Hear Dr. Helfferich

Mrs. Kenneth Smoke reported on the progress of the school survey being made by the AAUW in conjunction with the Gettysburg Woman's Club at the request of school authorities to determine how the school curriculum has aided graduates in later life.

Dr. Donald Lawrence Helfferich, vice president of Ursinus College and executive vice president of the Upper Darby National Bank, spoke on "The Girl and the Liberal Arts College."

"Corporate giving to colleges and universities has increased tremendously," Dr. Helfferich said. "The amount given by corporations in 1957 totaled $150,000,000. Government spending has also increased by a half billion dollars. But there is tremendous difficulty in raising money for the education of women. And unless there is substantially more financial support for the co-educational liberal arts colleges within the next ten years, the opportunities for entering these colleges by women will be substantially reduced."

Unpleasant Solution

"There is much being said about the crowded colleges of the future. There is an unpleasant solution being suggested by the uninformed and unsympathetic male—that is, reduce the number of women allowed to go to college."

"It looks very doubtful that in ten years there will be room in these colleges for both women and all the men who want to enter. In the world of business there is

27 GIRLS GET CERTIFICATES

Twenty-seven Girl Scouts Wednesday afternoon received certificates as "baby sitters" and took a pledge that "I have one of the most responsible jobs in the world. I am in charge of a priceless possession from the moment I start my duties until the parents return. . . I am fully aware that a child's life is in my hands and will do all in my power to protect that life."

The taking of the pledge was part of the "graduation" exercises for the Scouts who completed a six-week course in "baby sitting" sponsored by the Gettysburg Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. John Y. Crow presented the girls, members of Scout Troops 3, 36 and 42, with certificates of having completed the course at the ceremony held in the county Girl Scout office in the First National Bank building, Chambersburg St.

The presentation followed an examination of the girls on what they learned during the course. The pledge covered all of the duties that are part of the baby sitters' activities in the home and each of the girls was required to subscribe to the pledge before certificates were awarded.

HI-FI RECORDS OF NATIONAL ANTHEM GIVEN

New high fidelity recordings of the "Star Spangled Banner" have been received from the American Heritage Foundation. It was announced today by H. Edgar Riegler, schools. Enough of the recordings were received to supply each local school, he said.

The Foundation told the school authorities that although high fidelity was introduced more than a decade ago this is the first high fidelity rendition of the national anthem to appear on a single disc.

In a recent letter offering the records to school superintendents, John C. Cornelius, foundation president, stated:

"It is hoped that the foundation's new high-fidelity recording will instill in the 41,000,000 young Americans attending our schools and colleges a deeper appreciation of our National Anthem, and a greater understanding of the rights and responsibilities of our treasured American heritage."

The records have been distributed to each school. They have been provided free as a special public service by the nonpartisan, nonprofit American Heritage Foundation. Produced by Radio Corporation of America, Victor Record Division, the foundation's new recording of the "Star Spangled Banner" features the music of the world famous Boston Symphony Orchestra, Charles Munch conducting, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Fritz Reiner conducting.

The American Heritage Foundation sponsored the 37,000-mile Freedom Train tour in 1947-49. Its current project is a nationwide nonpartisan educational campaign in cooperation with the Advertising Council. Purpose of the project is to encourage citizens to register, vote and give financial support to the party or candidates of their choice.

10 Inches Of Heavy, Wet, Snow Blocks Roads, Tears Down Utility Wires And Poles, Closes Some Schools; Many Homes Without Light, Heat

'Worst Damage Here In Years' MECO Reports

William A. Lentz, manager of the Metropolitan Edison Company, said at 10 o'clock this morning the situation is "the worst in years, even worse than the hurricane of a few years ago."

"We have lines down everywhere throughout the country. The number of service interruptions is in excess of 1,000 and continuing."

"Lines are going out all over. We can almost tell how fast the telephone crews are working because as they open up new sections we get calls of distress. We have had nearly our entire force out since about 9 o'clock last night and it looks like they'll have to work throughout today and tonight and tomorrow and probably tomorrow night to complete all of the work we know about now. And as long as the snow continues to fall there will be additional interruptions."

Many Complications

"About the only place where we do not have trouble is the center of Gettysburg and residents there can almost tell as the lines go out nearby from the dimming of lights as power lines trip out and new ones come in."

The situation was rendered most difficult for many families who found not only light but heat cut off by the broken lines. Many were unable to cook meals because of the power failures. Pumps stopped running. Farmers turned to hand milking. It is also the season when many are hatching chicks and power failures brought problems in that line as well.

1,000 Phones Out Of Service In This Area

The heavy snow brought telephone wires crashing down throughout the county.

John Caldwell, manager of the local United Telephone Co. district, said at 9 o'clock this morning that all telephone communication with Fairfield, Waynesboro, Chambersburg and along the Lincoln Highway west of here, Hagerstown and Frederick and along the Emmitsburg Rd. had been cut off.

Five maintenance men and ten construction workers of the telephone company started to repair the damage at 2 o'clock this morning and continued throughout the day. Additional workmen were called in from other sections.

Caldwell estimated that the number of telephones out of service "could be number in the hundreds and may reach beyond the 1,000 mark."

He said the men expect that it will be several days before complete communications are restored in the county.

Caldwell asked persons whose phones have been cut off by the storm to notify the telephone office as quickly as possible so that the damage may be repaired while the men are there.

Transportation Paralyzed, Utility Wires, Trees Down, Schools Closed By New Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second major snow storm in less than a month blanketed eastern Pennsylvania today, closing schools and paralyzing transportation.

It was a heavy, wet snow that weighed, bent and finally ripped down trees, power and telephone lines in many sections.

In the Greater Philadelphia area the Pennsylvania Railroad which got through the neat blizzard of Feb. 15 without severe service interruption, was unable to run any trains on its Chestnut Hill and Media-West Chester runs. They were blocked by trees and broken wires lying across their power lines.

Philadelphia police said resultant traffic tieups and power failures were worse than those brought by Hurricane Hazel on Oct. 15, 1954.

10-14 Inches Of Snow

The U. S. Weather station in Philadelphia said from 10 to 14 inches fell throughout the eastern half of the state. The prediction was for continued snow throughout the day in the east with heavy snow warnings for central and northeastern Pennsylvania.

Ten to 14 inches of wet, heavy snow brought down utility lines in all parts of the county today and gave state Highway Department snow removal crews one of their most difficult assignments of the year.

By early afternoon snow in Gettysburg had reached about 10 inches in depth but reports from Littlestown and McSherrystown areas reported up to 14 inches.

As the snow continued throughout the day, conditions grew steadily worse as more power and telephone lines snapped under the heavy snow.

The State Highway Department office at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon lost radio contact with its snow plows and supervisors when power lines to the highway building were severed. The nearby state police substation also was without electric power and radio communications.

Dismiss Schools Early

Gettysburg public school children were dismissed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon so that school bus drivers would have extra time to cover snow-clogged routes. Franklin Twp. schools also closed early this afternoon.

While most highways were kept clear of snow many roads were closed from time to time by toppling power and telephone poles and lines.

Electric lines to Keefauver School here snapped at 10:30 a.m. and high tension lines burned in the snow nearby while heat and light were cut off for the 600 children there. Lunch was served in the cafeteria and power was to be restored early this afternoon. Phone service was cut off early this afternoon there also.

Snow, Sleet Belt Eastern Half Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow and sleet storms pelted Eastern parts of the country today, making a wintry, slushy scene for the arrival of the spring season.

Gusty winds up to 45 m.p.h. whipped the snow and sleet across wide areas of the mid and north Atlantic states during the night and this morning.

Up to 16 inches of snow fell in northern suburbs of Baltimore — and snow continued to fall. Depths from 10 to 15 inches were in prospect for many areas in Maryland and in eastern Pennsylvania.

Many Power Failures

A white covering of snow and sleet 8 to 10 inches deep gave a mid-winter look to sections of Washington. Power failures were reported in many parts of the nation's capital as well as in neighboring Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

Two inches of sleet were reported at Washington National Airport, 5 inches at Baltimore and 2 inches at Philadelphia. Snow mixed with rain also fell in New York City.

A mixture of snow and rain pelted most of the coastal sections, while the snow belt in the interior extended from northern sections of the Virginia northward into southern New York and Connecticut.

Temperatures were far from spring-like in the storm areas, with readings in the 30s and below freezing.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

The Adams County commissioners, E. Donald Scott, Blaine Bushey and George Kane, Wednesday afternoon attended a governor's conference on employment at Harrisburg.

The Adams County commissioners, E. Donald Scott, Blaine Bushey and George Kane, Wednesday afternoon attended a governor's conference on employment at Harrisburg.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was closed from Harrisburg to the New Jersey line. Snow drifts in cities and suburban areas virtually brought most automobile traffic to a standstill.

The Reading Railroad reported that its Doylestown branch was closed down because of fallen trees, wires and poles across the tracks. The branch runs for 10 miles between Doylestown and Lansdale. Railroad crews were working to free the tracks. The Reading said all other lines are running but some are up to 45 minutes late.

22 Inches In Chester

Chester County was buried under 22 inches, the deepest snowfall since 1909 when 21 inches fell on Christmas Day and the day following. All roads throughout the county were clogged with snow, trees and branches. In many places electric wires were down, cutting off power service to homes and factories. All schools were closed for the day and many industrial plants operated with skeleton crews. No trains or buses were running into West Chester.

The New Chester-New Oxford Rd. closed about six o'clock this morning when a utility pole snapped dropping about 30 wires and the pole across the highway and causing a snow plow to skid into a ditch. Highway department officials said W. J. Hamm, New Oxford, was driving a plow when the pole suddenly started to drop across the highway. Hamm swerved his truck and wound up in a ditch with the pole and wires barely missing the vehicle. The road was blocked by wires, the pole and truck from about 6 o'clock this morning.

Some Roads Closed

At Greencourt a large tree crashed under the weight of snow, causing one-way traffic on the Gettysburg-Emmitsburg Rd. at that point until highway crews could cut and remove the tree.

HOLD-THE-LINE FARM PRICE BILL IS CALLED UP

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON (AP)—A hold-the-line farm price support bill was called up for probable House passage today in the face of a threatened presidential veto.

The bill, a toned-down version of Senate-passed legislation, would impose a one-year freeze on government price supports and planting allowances at levels no lower than those now in force.

Speaking to a gathering of Republican women Tuesday, President Eisenhower said a freeze of "price-depressing practices of the past represents in my opinion a 180-degree turn in the wrong direction."

Given Warning
Despite his opposition, Democrats and many Republicans pushed the proposal as a temporary means of halting any further decline in the farm economy.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee said a half-billion-dollar drop in agricultural income could be avoided. Administration backers, on the other hand, cautioned that the measure would jeopardize chances of permanent farm legislation this session, and would invite disastrous drops in livestock and grain prices.

The House measure would limit to a year the hold order on price support levels and acreage allotments. A bill passed earlier by the Senate contains no time limitation, making the freeze permanent until repealed or supplanted by Congress.

Dairy State Support
Under terms of the House bill, the price support floor would be held at the 1957 level, acreage allowances at the 1958 level. The acreage freeze would thus apply to 1959 because 1958 planting allotments already have been fixed.

Strongest Republican support for the bill came from GOP dairy state members.

Under plans announced by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, dairy price supports are scheduled to be lowered April 1 to the legal minimum of 75 per cent of parity. Supports for manufacturing milk at now 83 per cent, those for butterfat 80 per cent.

The cut Benson proposed would cut milk price supports from $3.25 to $3.03 a hundred pounds, and butterfat supports from $8 to 56 cents a pound.

ASKS REGULAR SCHOOL AUDITS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, has urged that the State Legislature require periodic auditing of school district financial records by certified public accountants.

He proposed the measure yesterday as one means of avoiding so-called "payless paydays" for school teachers in the Anthracite area and also embezzlement of funds by a school official such as recently uncovered in Collingdale, Delaware County.

He also urged that a minimum bond be set for all school district treasurers. Pennsylvania school laws now require no minimum bond for treasurers. The school districts' boards of directors each sets the amount of bond.

Boehm's proposal that district records be audited periodically also carried a request for a full time accountant in the department assigned to visit school districts and advise them on proper accounting procedures.

The Collingdale school official, now awaiting Delaware County grand jury action on a charge of embezzlement, is former school Supt. Faber E. Stengle. The Collingdale school board reported a shortage of at least $200,000 in its funds.

European Trip May Block Candidacy

HARRISBURG (AP)—Rep. George A. Goodling (R-York) found himself today facing the possibility that he can't run for re-election because he took a trip to Europe.

The State Elections Bureau rejected his nomination petitions March 10 as defective and returned them by mail the next day.

But the return letter, with the accompanying petitions, lay unopened at Goodling's home when the March 17 deadline passed. He returns from Europe tomorrow.

The case is expected to end up in Dauphin County Court.

DIRECTORS TO MEET

The board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the C. of C. office in the Plaza building.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

At Hanover Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kline, New Oxford, son, Tuesday.

An excellent definition of a school board was distributed to members of the Gettysburg Joint Board at a recent meeting by Superintendent of Schools H. Edgar Riegle. It follows in full:

"Elected or appointed, the school board is one of the most influential groups in America. Through its common sense, practical and legal decisions, the board sets the educational policy that shapes the future of our youth and our country. Therefore, the closer they are to the people, to the ground roots of the nation, the better their decision for the youth of their community, or their area, will be."

"A school board should never lose sight of its purpose; to achieve a working system of education that will help the children of the community in which they have jurisdiction to develop into mature persons with the common sense, knowledge and stability which will enable them to be good citizens. All the board's decisions, separated from personalities and politics, must be evaluated in terms of the educational good accomplished—whether it concerns the design of a school building, the appointment of teachers, administrative selections, curriculum planning, selecting classroom equipment, buying supplies or approving a teaching technique."

"The school board must be more than a group of 'practical' business managers who make decisions on the basis of cost, expediency, personal considerations, or politics. Its first consideration must always be 'What educational good will be accomplished?' It should decide all questions presented to it so that the decision reached is always for the best interest of the school district. This puts the welfare of the school child where it should be, as first place in all considerations."

Find Missing Boys In Railroad Depot

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two Drexel Hill youngsters missing since 5:30 p.m. Tuesday were found last night in the Pennsylvania Railroad station at Paoli where they were driven by the snowstorm which lashed the Philadelphia area.

The boys, Joseph O'Neil, 12, and his brother, James, 8, told Tredyfrin Township police they ran away from home because they had bad marks on their report cards and were afraid they would be disciplined by their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neil of suburban Drexel Hill.

Says Clear Writing Would Save Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government can save money by having its employees write clearer letters, U.S. Archivist Wayne C. Grover says.

It should be done "so the poor fellow out in the country won't come in with a second letter asking what the first letter meant."

Grover told a House Appropriations subcommittee that one agency which handles thousands of letters each year cut its correspondence workload by 10 per cent that way. He did not name the agency.

"BLUE SNOW"

There were reports this morning from Biglerville of snow "as blue as indigo." Although the bluish tint was not apparent as the snow fell, it was most noticeable when it was compressed by a snow shovel or plow. There was no immediate explanation of the reason for the colored snow, although a number of persons noticed the unusual coloring.

State police reported the turnpike closed from Harrisburg East Shore to the Delaware Bridge because of heavy snow and traffic tie-ups.

One accident was reported by state police. It occurred at approximately 5 o'clock Wednesday evening 11 miles west of here on the Lincoln Highway. A tractor-trailer driven by Albert C. Bruner, Waldron, Ind., and owned by the Fischum Trucking Co. of Indianapolis, Indiana, was starting down the west side of Mt. Newman when it skidded in the slush, traveling 800 feet across the three-lane highway, smashed into a pole and came to rest off the south side of the highway, down an embankment. The driver was unhurt. Damage was estimated at $1,100.

One really mad plaid skirt is a must for girls who are in the classroom grind. A pet of this season is that old favorite, the Hudson Bay blanket, with its fleecy surface, strong colors and giant plaids.

For smart girls who sew their own, local sewing center experts suggest taking a look at some of the new fabrics in piece goods departments. Hudson Bay designs are now available in sanforized cotton, which can be washed with no fear of shrinkage. This new cotton has a fleecy surface which looks much like the warm and woolly blanket originals.

Bold Plaid Effective
A bold plaid such as this is most effective in a full, gored skirt. For amateur seamstresses here are a few sewing tips: Remember that when sewing a napped fabric, all the nap must run in the same direction. The nap on skirts should run down. Lay out pattern carefully, with all nap in the right direction, and match plaid carefully at seams.

On a full skirt such as this, a narrow hem is best. Hang skirt for a day or so before hemming, so any stretch resulting from the bias cut will hang out. Then mark and cut hem. Sew bias seam binding along edge of hem and turn up not more than an inch of fabric. Blind stitch in place.

Select a trim sweater picking up one of the colors of the plaid to complete the costume. If you wish, you may add a wide belt to emphasize the fullness of the skirt and the trimness of your waistline.

BISHOP KEOUGH GRANTS SPECIAL INDULGENCES TO MT. ST. MARY'S

The Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, archbishop of Baltimore, has informed Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, that a petition for the granting of special indulgences for those who visit the grotto of Our Lady on the college grounds was granted by the Office in Charge of Indulgences at the Sacred Penitentiary in Rome.

According to Archbishop Keough's letter, "Catholics who visit the grotto and recite the Hail Mary, together with the invocation 'O Mary, Virgin Mother of God, pray to Jesus for me,' will receive the following indulgences during the Lourdes Jubilee Year:

"A partial indulgence of 500 days to be gained each time that a visit is made and the prayers recited with a contrite heart.

"A plenary indulgence once a month under the usual conditions, provided a visit is made and the prayers recited every day during the month."

Two Anniversaries
Monsignor Sheridan said: "This year marks both the 100th anniversary of the apparition of Our Lady at Lourdes and the 150th anniversary of the founding of Mount St. Mary's College in 1808 by Rev. Fr. John Dubois.

"The grotto on the mountainside and the chapel erected nearby are rich in Mountaineer tradition, for it was here that Fr. John Dubois first had his vision of founding the college. Worn after a hard day in dispatch of his parish duties, Dubois was attracted by a light on the mountainside, and thinking it a settler's residence hoped to find food and rest. Unable to find any building, he stopped on the hillside to rest himself beside a mountain brook.

"As his thoughts wandered far afield, Fr. Dubois idly shaped a few twigs into a cross. Rising to leave, he first placed the cross in the crotch of the lowest tree. This tree in its decadence was the original grotto — one of the oldest such in the United States — and the result of Dubois' meditation beneath it became Mount St. Mary's College. Here has since been erected the chapel in which the May Mass is now celebrated.

Erect First Grotto
"After the first college buildings had been constructed, Father Dubois busied himself and his charges in beautifying the surrounding areas. One of the first spots that took his eye was the mound on which the present chapel rests, just over the stream from the present grotto. Here he and his early students erected the first grotto on a little patch of ground which stood among the large and ancient trees in a natural woodland recess.

"In the lane which ran through the woods between the parish church and the grotto — a distance of some three hundred yards — Fr. Dubois attached crosses to the trees so that students might make the stations on the beautiful mountain path. Later when the ground became the scene of Corpus Christi processions each spring, the path was called Corpus Christi Avenue. "Year after year the Mount students improved the beauty of the grotto area. They collected soil to make a little garden and built an arbor out of old planks, laths, shingles, as they were able to coax them out of Fr. Dubois.

Corpus Christi Festival
"In 1856 the celebration of the Corpus Christi festival began at Mount St. Mary's. After the celebration of Mass, the Mass of St. Thomas Aquinas set to music by Professor Dielman of Mount St. Mary's, the procession moved from the mountain church to the grotto along the wooded avenue. The line of procession was made up of clergy, seminarians, and college students. Benediction was given at the grotto.

"The oldest records of Mount St. Mary's bear witness to the healthy piety of the students, and of the hymns and litanies they offered at the grotto. One is surprised indeed to read of the festivities at the grotto in 1858, the very year in which history records that the Blessed Virgin Mary was appearing to Bernadette Soubirous at Lourdes. Certainly it was Our Lady's apparition at

200 SURRENDER AFTER MEETING

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Indonesian army said today 200 men who joined Maj. Boyke Golan in the mutiny at Medan in North Sumatra have surrendered.

The rebels have announced that some Jakarta-appointed commanders in Atjeh province have been ousted, but the province has not formally adhered to the rebel cause.

Independent sources yesterday confirmed that the government was firmly in control at Medan and at Pekanbaru, the Central Sumatra oil city.

Antara news agency said government forces retook Medan Monday an hour after Golan and his men seized it.

Lourdes which inspired the building of the new grotto, begun in 1875, finished in 1879, the oldest exact replica of the Lourdes grotto in the United States.

"After completion of the new grotto the May celebrations were held there. In 1906 a new stone edifice was erected over the old grotto site as a memorial to Bishop McGovern, of Harrisburg, once a perfect at Mount St. Mary's. Now each year on May 1 Mass is offered in this tiny chapel and on the last day of May benediction is held."

A BALANCED LIFE

All of us, when we get well started in life, little by little get a taste of nearly everything — sorrow, ill health, the loss of friends, disappointments, many a failure, and a loss of faith. We need all this, however, to gain the experience of a balanced life. The things that bring happiness we can cling to, and those that do not we can courageously drop or push from our path. The significant things in life are the ones that we should keep to enrich us in all that we do. When I started, in a modest way, to collect rare books of authors whom I most admired, I felt the atmosphere of a new world entering my lungs, and feeling its way to my mind and heart.

I believe that a careful selection of books can mean more to a person than anything else, if selected intelligently and with enthusiasm. We become very close to a self-trained human being when we read his book. And the interchange of thoughts can be very stimulating and inspiring. A home remains unfinished if it does not have its shelf of beloved books!

I want for nothing — except, perhaps, a new book by a well-beloved writer of mine. I can take such a book to my heart and thank the publisher for another door into the mind of a human being! I am sure books have enabled many a person to balance his life with a careful selection of them. The more you get acquainted with worthwhile books, the better you understand people with whom you associate from day to day, for an author is a painter of character and an analyst of words and thoughts. Every great writer is a benefactor!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Fiddling!"

Just Folks

ENVY

Give me a little girl of three,
A boy of four or five,
And you can bet that I will be
The gladdest man alive.
I envy no rich man his gold
Or motor car that skids,
But green with envy I behold
The poor man's bunch of kids.

Give me a boy of eight or nine,
A girl of six or seven,
And I would count the world as fine.

And very close to heaven,
I envy no man's fame today,
For that I make no bids;
But envying, I go my way,
The poor man's bunch of kids.

With such a troop to follow me
And romp about my feet,
To climb at night upon my knee,
I'd count life's struggle sweet.
I envy none who's trouble free,
But till death shuts my lids,
With envy I shall always see
The poor man's bunch of kids.

W. B. HEYBURN IS STRICKEN

CONCORDVILLE, Pa. (P)—Well-known B. Heyburn, 55-year-old independent candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator, was stricken yesterday while driving his automobile on the Altmore Pike near his home here.

Heyburn, who served 12 years in the Pennsylvania State Senate and four years as auditor general before being appointed state treasurer in 1952, was admitted to Chester County Hospital, West Chester. His condition was described as "quite good."

Heyburn was taken to Media where he was examined by Dr. Walter E. Wentz Jr., and then told police the last thing he remembered was getting into his car at the Media station of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Dr. I. M. Waggoner of West Chester, who is treating Heyburn, was reluctant to offer a diagnosis pending outcome of a more complete examination later today.

"We have virtually ruled out the possibility of a stroke," Dr. Waggoner said. "But there appears to have been some type of a spasm."

LOVE STORY

By CONSTANCE FOSTER
Writer, Clearwater Beach, Florida
They lived behind us in a tiny two-room cottage no bigger than a bird house. My children called them "the oldest people in the world."

Constance Foster

I described them pretty well, too. A man so bent and withered that only his old eyes seemed alive — that was Pa. A woman thin and dry as a matchstick, with a fuzz of white cotton for hair — that was Corrie, his aged wife.

They had outlived all their children. The last one, a man of 50, had died out on the West Coast last spring, and his mother had grieved because they couldn't afford to go out for the funeral or even send flowers — violets.

"All the others were sent violets when they died. They're our favorite flower," Corrie said. "Pa courted me with violets. Picked 'em himself, in the woodland swamp down back of where they've now built that old folks' home for men. Whichever of us goes first, I'll write you a bunch of violets in our hand."

Not Enough To Eat
"Our" was a word they used constantly in referring to each other.

We knew they didn't always have enough to eat, and we often stopped by the cottage with a kettle of soup or some custards for them. But we didn't know quite how bad things were with them until an official of the Memorial Home for the Aged came calling on us.

"The case of this destitute couple has been brought to our attention," she said, "and if they prove to be thoroughly respectable, we will extend them our charity. Of course, they will have to be separated."

"Separate them?" I gasped. "But you can't. You mustn't! It would be criminal. Like trying to cut a person in two. They've grown together over so many years."

Pa and Corrie would never live long apart, and I knew it.

A Mile Apart
I would have taken them in myself, but we had a full house already and another baby on the way.

They sent limousines for Corrie and Pa — two of them, bound for separate destinations, a mile apart. I couldn't stand it; so I went out my back door and took a long walk by myself, kicking stones and feeling the frustration of helplessness.

It was on Wednesday that they separated the old folks, and the next day the few sticks of furniture in the cottage were sold at auction to help with their keep. Most of it was junk.

But one piece, an antique love seat, brought a good price. I know because I bought it. My husband was off on a business trip, and since a pregnant woman has no business lugging furniture around, I left it in the shack, planning to send for it the next day.

A Light
My Johnny was sick that night, and I was up with him. Outside it was pouring rain. I was standing by the basin in the bathroom, rummaging in the medicine cabinet, when I saw a flickering sort of light out in the empty cottage. I slipped a raincoat over my bathrobe, grabbed an umbrella, and tramped over there.

The blinds were drawn tight, but there was a chink of light around the edges and through the pin-holes where they were worn thin. I knocked, but no one came. Then suddenly I was scared and decided I'd better go back to the house and telephone the police. But I'd no sooner turned my back than the door was flung open. "We're not going back, neither of us. You can't make us."

It was Pa's voice, but stronger and deeper than I'd ever heard it. He was drawn up almost straight, too, standing there in the doorway with the flickering light of a candle behind him in the room.

Younger And Prettier
Corrie looked different, too, younger and prettier. She was sitting on the love seat, and the candlelight played tricks with her hair, making it look like burnished gold. It softened her face, and I knew suddenly how beautiful she had been when Pa first laid eyes on her.

They were like a pair of young lovers again, there in the wavering shadows, and I held my breath at the miracle of time turned back and the warmth a single candle can make in an empty room where there is love to light it. On an old packing box, drawn up in front of the sofa, was a cracked glass mug filled with violets.

"Pa picked 'em for me in the swamp," Corrie said proudly. "Same swamp where he found 'em in our court days, before we eloped. Same violets, too, only I think they smell sweeter than they used to."

He had crept out of bed in the dark of night, crawled through a window, picked his violets, and then gone courting again — this time to the Old Ladies' Home at the top of the hill.

He had actually managed to help Corrie escape, too. They had eloped all over again. They were wet to the bone, and I tried to get them to come to my house. But they wouldn't budge. "Corrie and me's got a lot of lost time to make up for," Pa insisted. "We'll just sit here and hold hands. My sakes, us two hasn't been apart for two whole days like this in near 70 years."

They were still together in the morning, sitting side by side on the old love seat. Corrie's head was on Pa's shoulder, and they held the bunch of damp violets between them in "our" hand. They were sound asleep. But we couldn't wake them.

It wasn't sad a bit. The doctor said the exertion had been too much for such old people with failing hearts. I'm not sure he was entirely right. I think they just wanted to stay together.

THREATENS TO SHOOT POLICE WITH OWN GUN

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P)—Patrolman Don Ansel, a policeman for only 14 months, stared at his own gun, held by a man threatening to kill him.

"You're under arrest for assault with a deadly weapon," Ansel said levelly, "and feloniously obstructing (an officer in the line of duty)."

A crowd of homebound workers, including Mayor Jack Williams, stopped at the busy intersection and watched the tense drama. None intervened.

A few minutes earlier, Ansel, 27, arrested Richard Haupt, 31, for investigation of drunk driving. Haupt's brother Bernard, 29, a passenger in the car, grabbed Ansel's gun as the patrolman wrestled with Richard, who resisted arrest. Bernard shouted: "Let my brother loose or I'll kill you."

Ansel remained motionless as Deputy Paul Cavicchi arrived on the scene. The deputy distracted Bernard and Ansel snatched back his weapon. Both brothers were arrested. No charges have been filed.

Fake Collectors Get $46,000 Loot

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Two men, posing as tax collectors, entered a Wynfield section home yesterday and took $46,000 in cash, jewels and furs, the owner said.

The robbers looted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Shore, owner of Macshore Blouses, a New York firm.

Miss Cortez Deckman, 41, a maid, was alone when a man carrying a briefcase rapped at the door. She told police he said he was from the income tax office and had an appointment with Mrs. Shore.

The maid told him Mrs. Shore was not at home and attempted to shut the door. As she did so, the caller displayed a pistol and forced his way inside. A moment later, an accomplice entered and both ransacked the house.

YOUNG FATHER KILLED IN CRASH

WHITE HAVEN, Pa. (P)—An automobile and a station wagon collided head-on near here last night killing a 32-year-old Dunmore, Pa., man who was driving his daughter to a Philadelphia hospital.

State police said the victim, John A. Titus, his wife, Marilyn, 30, and their daughter Terrilyn, 2, were traveling south on the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike when a car driven by Edward E. Borek, 18, of Clarks Summit R. 2, rammed into their station wagon. Police said Borek's car crossed the dividing strip.

Mrs. Titus and her daughter were treated at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital for minor injuries. Borek escaped injury.

The Tituses were driving their daughter to Shriners' Hospital where she was to be examined for possible surgery to correct a deformed ankle.

4-CENT STAMP RATE LIKELY TO BE ADOPTED

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (P)—Chances for a final victory for the 4-cent letter stamp over a 5-cent rate appeared improved today by the choice of Senate conferees on postal rate-pay legislation.

Republican Senate leaders grumbled privately over the makeup of the conferees but said they had decided against any floor fight on the matter.

The Senate named only three conferees on the bill — Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) of the Senate Post Office Committee and Senators Monroney (D-Okla.) and Carlson (R-Kan.). Republicans said the number of conferees is usually five.

Carlson Leads Fight
Johnston and Monroney both were strong proponents of a flat 4-cent rate for letters instead of the higher figure asked by President Eisenhower.

Carlson led the successful floor fight for the administration's position. The Senate voted 49-42 for the 5-cent rate on nonlocal letters and 4 cents on local mail, with the 5-cent stamp limited to three years. The current rate is 3 cents.

Carlson said he did not believe the setup necessarily would mean the defeat of the 5-cent stamp.

Many Issues
Carlson said the conference had many complicated issues to face, including other rate changes and Senate inclusion of pay increases of about 737 million dollars annually for the 500,000 postal workers.

The House last year voted for $27 million dollars worth of rate hikes including a flat 4-cent letter rate, but has not acted on a postal pay raise.

The Senate voted an average 12½ per cent pay boost for the postal employees.

This is far higher than Republican leaders have said Eisenhower will accept, although Carlson himself offered an 8½ per cent raise on the floor as a substitute for the Democratic 12½ per cent plan.

FORESEE MORE I.L.E.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune said today that top government economists have come to the firm conclusion that unemployment is climbing to a new postwar high this month.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added in part: They predict that the official government employment report, which is to be made public in early April, will show a fresh increase of 200,000 in the number of jobless workers.

Unemployment hit a 16-year high of 5.173.000 in February. Mas a Tierra, the island off the coast of Chile where Robinson Crusoe supposedly lived, is now chief of a haven for specially built schooners which go there to harvest its famous lobsters.

Barons Still Have Chance For Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Barons still had a slim chance to tie the Hershey team for first place in the American Hockey League today, as the final games of the season were set for Saturday and Sunday.

Meanwhile, the Rochester Americans remained in contention, but not by much, for fourth and final Calder Cup playoff spot, by downing the Providence Reds last night, 5-2.

The Springfield Indians, now in fourth place by four points over Rochester, whipped Cleveland 3-2. The Barons trail Hershey by two games with each of the teams having two games to play.

Cleveland meets Rochester on Saturday and Hershey on Sunday; Hershey plays Buffalo on Saturday. On Sunday, Rochester plays Buffalo, while Providence and Springfield play each other in both closing games.

The dinner will take place on Saturday, April 12, in the high school cafeteria, with servings from 4 to 8 p.m. The general committee on arrangements includes Mrs. Robert V. Weaver, Mrs. Ralph I. Unger, Mrs. Paul C. Morehead and Mrs. Donald C. Sheely. The following committees were announced by Mrs. Sheely, home economics teacher at the school: Dining hall, Mrs. Robert Weaver, Mrs. George Worley, Mrs. Lewis H. Fox, Mrs. Kenneth K. KENTUCKY'S COX INJURES FINGER BUT HE'LL PLAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's Johnnie Cox has injured a finger on his right hand, but he's expected to be ready to play against Temple tomorrow night in the NCAA Basketball Championships.

Cox's finger was painfully swollen yesterday and he missed practice.

The Wildcats, Temple and Kansas State are due to arrive today and hold practice sessions at 18,000-seat Freedom Hall.

Seattle, the other finalist, arrived last night. Coach John Castellani said, "Everybody is in good shape."

Rodgers To Be Okay Temple Coach Harry Litwak said his high scorer, Guy Rodgers will be in good shape after a strained back last week.

Castellani said Seattle's battle with Kansas State in the second game tomorrow night "probably will depend on the question of rebounding."

Kentucky and Temple open the battle for the title. The winners meet Saturday night in the finals. Meanwhile, some 400 coaches arrived here for the 32nd annual National Assn. of Basketball Coaches convention.

24-Second Rule One of the most controversial questions being debated about by coaches is the 24-second rule which the pros use, requiring a player to shoot or pass within 24 seconds of getting the ball. Some want it adopted for college play.

One coach, Phil Woolpart of San Francisco, definitely is against the proposed rule.

"If they passed a rule like that, I would do one of two things — quit or use a zone defense, and I hate a zone," he said.

"What the game really needs," Woolpart added, "is to leave the rules alone for a year and let everybody catch up with what's going on."

Can Increase I.Q. Mr. Eastep, guest speaker was introduced by Frank E. Basehor, administrative assistant at the local high school. In discussing his subject "The Gifted or Accelerated Child," he stated that there is a confusion in terms. An individual with over 125 intelligence quotient in elementary school, over 140 in secondary or over 160 I.Q. on the college level, is considered "gifted," he explained and he also stated that "after he is an adult, we do not think of his mental abilities."

Dr. Eastep said that the age for infant maturity is six years, for child maturity, twelve years and for adult maturity, 21 years.

A survey conducted in Harrisburg several years ago found only 16 children in the seven to twelve age group, who were in this category. Because there are so few, it is administratively impossible to have a curriculum geared to this level. The speaker said that all children should know the Dolch 200 words, but in the third to eighth grade level, only four could be found, who earned a hundred per cent in this survey. Under proper care, and emotional balance, a child should be able to increase his I.Q. Dr. Eastep recommended homogeneous grouping although many parent-teacher groups do not agree with this system.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held on Tuesday, April 15, and will be a symposium on "The Child and His Future." Fred Hartlaub is chairman for the committee for the month.

N. O. Little League Meeting Tonight

The New Oxford Little League Baseball Association will organize for the 1958 season during a meeting tonight at 7:30 at the New Oxford Fire Co. engine house.

Clyde O. Garber, president, said persons interested in managing or assisting in managing the various teams are asked to attend. The session is for adults willing to promote the project. A meeting of players will be called in the near future.

than 15,000 homes were without electricity and heat. In Philadelphia Electric Co. reported hundreds of power lines down because of the snow, many trees fell over power lines. All public and parochial schools were closed in the city.

State Of Emergency A state of emergency was declared in Delaware County where roads were closed and thousands of homes were without electricity, and public transportation was running at least an hour behind schedule.

Here, too, all schools were closed. Pike Is Blocked In Haverford Township, heavily traveled college and railroad avenues were closed and West Chester Pike blocked by fallen wires. Lower Merion Township police claimed a state of emergency. A power failure in Media left the Media state police station without power.

Some sections of southwestern Pennsylvania received a heavy snowfall. The heaviest ranged from 3 to 8 inches in Somerset County where most highways were in dangerous condition. Many motorists were stranded temporarily in the Johnstown area by the surprise storm.

At Greensburg, state police said roads in higher sections of Westmoreland County were snow covered and slippery.

Report Heavy Fog Snow flurries occurred in Pittsburgh but the snow was melting as it hit the ground. Some sections of Erie reported a heavy fog Thursday morning.

In Lancaster, 18 inches of measurable snow was reported. Roads were closed as the heavy snow snapped trees and big tree branches and power lines. Numerous power failures were reported. The Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. said power failures were greater than during Hurricane Hazel.

The storm moved in on the eve of spring from the Atlantic coast and was mixed with rain at intervals during the night and early today.

Billy O'Dell, Oriole Southpaw First To Hurl 9-Inning Win

By JOHN CHANDLER The Associated Press

This could be the year the Baltimore Orioles can quit "nursing along" Billy O'Dell, the southpaw pitcher who jumped right out of Clemson College in 1954 via the bonus route and into a major league uniform.

O'Dell, only 25, became the first hurler in the majors to go nine innings this spring when he defeated the Chicago Cubs with a 7-hitter yesterday at Mesa, Ariz. Of course, O'Dell played in the Cuban winter league, and is further advanced than other moundmen.

5 Games Cancelled Chicago scored three runs off O'Dell in the first inning, two coming on Lee Walls' home run, but the young lefty from Newberry, S.C. blanked the Cubs from then on.

SEES PATTERN IN DECISIONS IN FCC CASES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) of a House investigating subcommittee said today he thinks there has been a pattern in the way the Federal Communications Commission decides cases.

Harris said in an interview there had been charges a "pattern" in the FCC "developed out of certain influences and particularly White House influences."

He said his subcommittee needs to look into more contested television cases to establish whether there was such a pattern.

Month On Pressures For more than a month, the Harris subcommittee has been investigating allegations that influence and pressures were exerted on behalf of various applicants for TV Channel 10 in Miami.

In a 4-2 decision, the FCC awarded the coveted license to a National 1957. But the FCC now has moved to reconsider that grant.

"We cannot say any one pattern has developed out of this one case," Harris said, referring to the Miami contest.

The subcommittee today summoned two more witnesses connected with applicants for the Miami channel.

First on the list was Milt Dean Hill, public relations employe for National Airlines.

Due to testify next was Paul A. Porter, FCC chairman in 1944-46 and lawyer for a Frank Katzenzine, Miami Beach radio station operator who waged an unsuccessful fight for the Miami TV license.

Hill has been mentioned in connection with a $240 telephone call.

Alexander G. Hardy, a vice president of National, testified Hill listed the call as made in connection with the Channel 10 case although actually it was a personal call to someone not connected with the controversy.

A memorandum on the call was in a file marked "Political."

PLAN HEARING ON NEW ROAD

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Highways Department has promised a hearing would be held, if requested, to determine the economic effect of the proposed reconstruction of Route 16 between Mercersburg and Greencastle in Franklin County.

In order to qualify for federal funds under the federal primary road building program, hearings must be offered on all proposed projects.

The plan calls for reconstruction of 9.72 miles of the roadway beginning at Mercersburg-Montgomery Twp. line and extending 12 miles southeast of the Antrim Township-Greencastle borough line.

The Highway Department will be required to pay for half of the construction cost and the federal government will pay the rest, excluding property damage costs.

Trial Is Postponed Because Of Illness

HARRISBURG (AP) — Illness of a defense attorney today caused postponement of the trial of a Schuylkill County contractor and two former county highway superintendents.

Judge Homer L. Kreider of Dauphin County Court continued until next Tuesday the trial of Victor Prep, Frackville contractor, Philip Price, Columbia, Lancaster County, and Frank S. Jamieson, West Chester, Chester County.

Dist. Atty. Huette F. Dowling said James Evans, Prep's counsel, was sick and unable to appear in court.

LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYERS CALLED

Boys 8 to 12 years of age from Taneytown and vicinity who want to play Little League baseball next summer are asked to register with the managers of the two Lions Club teams at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in the Taneytown firemen's hall. In addition to last season's leaders, Myron R. Tracey and Harold M. Anders, Crawford Banks, Jr., Robert L. Bowers, Irvin L. Crouse, Larry D. Eckard, and Meredith Gross will take charge of the more than 50 youngsters who are expected to report for the first spring practice in April.

The suits of last year's players must be returned Friday evening. Parents' permission slips may be secured Friday. These may also be turned in later to Myron R. Tracey or to one of the coaches.

Donald F. Stutely, Union Bridge, was elected president of the Frederick-Carroll Little League at a meeting Tuesday in the VFW Hall at Union Bridge. Charles D. Ecker, New Windsor, was elected vice president, and Thurston E. Putnam, Taneytown, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Summit Meet May Dwell On Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP) — A summit conference devoted solely to seeking a disarmament agreement was under consideration by the Eisenhower administration today.

Officials said disarmament in all its aspects — from futuristic plans for taming outer space to the age-old issue of curbing armed manpower — seems to offer the best hope for progress among the points of East-West tension.

A new letter from Soviet Premier Bulganin to British Prime Minister Macmillan emphasized how far apart East and West are on the other issues.

Bulganin once more stressed Soviet opposition to discussing at the summit such topics as German reunification, barring the U.N. veto, and greater political freedom for Red Eastern European satellites.

U. S. Offers 3 Items These three items have been advanced by President Eisenhower.

Only in the disarmament field, therefore, is any "give" apparent to U.S. officials.

The greatest flexibility on the Soviet side, they said, was new Kremlin willingness to accept Eisenhower's space-for-peace proposal. But to this the Soviets attached an impossible condition — elimination of all U. S. bases abroad.

On the U.S. side, Eisenhower was reported ready to drop his insistence that any halt in nuclear tests must be linked to a cutoff in the making of nuclear weapons.

Stratton said the Defense Department has agreed to present its position more fully at the annual conference of governors to be held May 18 at Miami, Fla.

Stratton was accompanied to the White House by Gov. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, and Gov. Joseph E. Johnson of Vermont.

AREAS WITH IDLE TO RECEIVE WORK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four state governors and Secretary of Defense McElroy today discussed plans for channeling defense contracts into unemployment areas.

The conference at the White House also dealt with the governors' contentions that National Guard and Reserve units should be maintained at a minimum level of 400,000 men.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois said after the conference that the Defense Department has been talking about fixing the minimum at 360,000.

Haverford And Charleroi Win PIAA Playoff Games By One-Point Margins On Foul Shots

FAVOR DAYTON, BONAVENTURE TO WIN TONIGHT

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Top-ranked Dayton and third-seeded St. Bonaventure are favored to win semifinal games in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament tonight. But the coaches of the underdog teams think the odds are out of line.

"I don't think my team will cool off — the momentum should keep us going," said coach Jim McCafferty of Xavier (Ohio) which takes on St. Bonaventure in the second game at Madison Square Garden. And, said Joe Lapchick of St. John's, which goes against Dayton in the opener, "The teams are evenly matched."

The Flyers (24-3) are rated four point choices over St. John's (18-8) while St. Bonaventure (20-4) is figured three points better than Xavier (17-11).

Worried About Xavier St. Bonaventure coach Ed Donovan is worried about Xavier and he has a right to be. The Musketeers from Cincinnati dumped Niagara and then eliminated defending champion Bradley to reach the semis.

St. Bonaventure will be at a disadvantage in height. But the Bonnies had the same trouble with St. Joseph's and came out on top 79-75.

Dayton, which has made seven Fordham 74-70 in the quarter-finals.

"We should do better against St. John's," said Flyers' coach Tom Blackburn. "We hadn't played since March 4 and we were very rusty."

The championship game will be played Saturday afternoon. It will be televised in most sections of the country (4:30 p.m. EST, CBS).

STEELERS MAY GET STADIUM

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The way has been virtually cleared for the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League to play in Pitt Stadium.

The executive committee of the University of Pittsburgh's Board of Trustees yesterday approved a proposal for the professional Steelers to use the 60,000-seat stadium providing it would not lose its tax-free status.

No difficulty is expected on this point although the Allegheny County Board of Property Assessment must approve.

The proposal calls for the university to lease the stadium to the Public Auditorium Authority of Pittsburgh for five years at $100,000 a year. The authority would then rent it to the Steelers who would pay a rental of 12½ per cent of their gate receipts.

If the proposal wins final approval, the Steelers would become the second NFL club to use college facilities for league games. The Philadelphia Eagles recently negotiated a deal to use the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field in the Quaker City.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — People order things from catalogues, but the government buys them from schedules. Clarence D. Bean, commissioner of federal supply, explained the difference this way: "Catalogues have pretty pictures and numbers."

Games Tonight In Class B, Port Allegany of Dist. 9 and Fredonia of Dist. 10 will meet at Bradford to wind up the preliminary round activity in the interdistrict competition. The game was postponed from Tuesday night.

The Class C interdistrict competition reaches the regional semifinal stage in the east tonight with Scotland of Dist. 3 meeting Jenkintown of Dist. 1 at Lancaster High School and Rock Glen of Dist. 4 taking on Jermyn of Dist. 2 at Wilkes College in Wilkes-Barre. The western Class C semifinals were played earlier in the week.

Foul shots by Ike Wooley Jr. of Haverford and Little Jimmy Chacko of Charleroi may well be remembered as two of the most crucial points scored during the 1957-58 PIAA basketball season.

They won district championships last night for their respective teams, whose districts have dominated the PIAA Class A playoffs in the postwar years.

Wooley's free throw with only 11 seconds to play, was his only point of the game and gave Haverford the margin of victory over Chester in a stunning 57-56 upset of the 1957 state runners-up and defending Eastern champions who had been a clear favorite, especially since it

"Pen Pal" Bulganin Writes New Letter To Macmillan With New Charges On West

LONDON (AP) — The Western Allies' most prolific and most troublesome pen pal charged today that the West is rushing war preparations while delaying a summit conference by insisting on discussion of unacceptable terms.

Soviet Premier Bulganin's fresh wording of old demands and accusations came in another letter to Prime Minister Macmillan, made public today.

Bulganin gave no hint that the Kremlin is willing to modify its conditions for the summit talks. Progress toward the meeting of government heads is now stalled by the inability of the Soviets and the West to agree on either what will be talked about or the level at which to open preliminary negotiations.

Busy Exchange
Bulganin's letter replied to one Macmillan had sent him Feb. 8 in reply to one Bulganin sent him Jan. 9. Macmillan also wrote Bulganin Jan. 17 but that one answered a Bulganin letter of Dec. 11.

This time the Soviet Premier wrote that the West is rushing "war preparations which cannot but worsen the international situation." He cited the recent agreement for U.S. intermediate range missiles to be based in Britain and plans to place the nuclear warhead weapons in some other nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He said "it is now more than ever necessary to refrain from all measures of a military nature" which might complicate holding a summit conference.

Accused Of Delay
Officials in London and Washington concluded that the purpose of the letter was another attack on America's supplying nuclear missiles to its European allies. The request "to refrain" apparently meant the Allies should not modernize their de-

ADENAUER SAYS GERMANY NEEDS ATOMIC PIECES

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today that West Germany must equip itself with atomic weapons and permit rocket bases on its soil if NATO considers that necessary for Western defense.

Otherwise, Adenauer told the Socialist opposition, West Germany must get out of the North Atlantic Alliance.

"If we refuse the technical advice of NATO military experts," he declared, "then we are withdrawing from NATO." West Germany cannot withdraw from NATO, he continued, if it is determined to play its part in defending the free world against potential Soviet aggression.

West Germany's opposition Labor party has been loudly demanding that Adenauer's government renounce atomic weapons and refuse to let American missiles be based in West Germany in hopes that this would make the Soviets more amenable to German reunification.

Defense Ministers To Meet

The government so far has not committed West Germany to accepting either nuclear weapons for its own forces or NATO missile bases. Nor have the recommendations for base sites been made public by NATO's military planners, although they are expected to be submitted at a meeting next month of the alliance members' defense ministers.

West Germany appears likely to be one military choice for the missiles which can reach the Soviet Union. NATO's supreme commander, U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, said in an interview last month that "atomic weapons for defensive purposes are absolutely essential for the defense of West Germany... West Germany must not be committed to weapons of several generations ago."

Speaking in a major foreign policy debate, Adenauer once more told the Bundestag — the lower house of Parliament — that the Soviets are the potential aggressor and that they have long-distance rockets and atomic weapons.

"If an important part of NATO

TAKE BREATHING SPELL TODAY FROM RUSH TO CREATE JOBS

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress took a breathing spell today from its scramble to pass job-creating measures while it awaited President Eisenhower's unemployment compensation proposals.

No time has been fixed for submission of the plan, details of which have not been announced. It was outlined to a group of state governors yesterday, but there were indications more work remains to be done on it.

The House, which sent to Eisenhower a $1,850,000,000 emergency housing bill he was expected to sign, prepared to act on a farm price support freeze measure that seemed headed for an almost certain veto.

Promises Consideration
Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas promised any recommendations Eisenhower sends to Congress to help the 5,200,000 unemployed will be "expeditiously considered."

But with the House scheduled to give first consideration to administration and Democratic proposals to extend jobless compensation payments, Johnson indicated the Senate will mark time with minor measures until it gets a bill next week to speed up highway construction.

Several governors said after the White House conference that Eisenhower's proposal called for federal grants to finance a 13-week extension of jobless benefits for those whose eligibility under the varying state unemployment compensation programs has expired.

Loans, Not Grants
An administration spokesman said, however, that the federal aid would be more in the form of loans than of grants, though he conceded the extra money would not come from state funds or from an increase in state taxes.

The present jobless benefit program is financed by a tax on payrolls ranging up to 3 per cent of the first $2,000 of a worker's earnings. Of this the federal government keeps three tenths of 1 per cent for administrative costs and credits the remainder to reserve funds of the various states.

Gov. Goodwin Knight of California, one of the eight governors, said Eisenhower is proposing that when a state exhausts its own reserve funds, it would be granted more money from the federal administrative fund. The federal government would then replenish its own fund.

Minute Action
But an administration spokesman, calling the advances more loans than grants, said repayment could come either from the states' own reserve funds when they were replenished or from an added tenth of 1 per cent in the payroll tax.

The House spent only a minute in passing, without debate and without a recorded vote, the housing bill which sponsors say will provide more than 500,000 new jobs this year.

It followed that up by passing two resolutions calling on Eisenhower to speed up spending of appropriated funds for military and civil public works programs. Similar resolutions already have been passed by the Senate.

EXPERTS PROBE SERIES OF FIRES

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—State, city, and county police—joined by expert investigators from insurance firms—are probing a series of fires here since Jan. 22 which have caused a loss of more than 2½ million dollars.

Fire Chief Peter Kuhn, who suffered a badly injured leg in a fall at one of the fires, estimates the total loss at $2,355,000. The figure went up nearly $200,000 this week alone.

Yesterday, a large warehouse of the Hammill Paper Co. was destroyed. Late Sunday night, fire struck the Baldwin Building in downtown Erie, destroying a restaurant and bowling alley. The loss in this blaze was set at $195,000.

Kuhn and Police Chief Edward Williams say none of the eight fires can be labeled definitely as the work of an arsonist. But both say they must operate on the theory of possible arson because of certain similarities in some of the fires.

Bank Of England Cuts Interest Rate

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England today reduced its interest rate from 7 to 6 per cent, allowing money to be borrowed at a lower rate. The result will be cheaper money throughout the sterling bloc.

The nationalized bank increased the bank rate to 6½%—the highest in 37 years—last Sept. 19 as one of the tough anti-inflationary measures of the Conservative government to protect the value of the pound sterling, the British currency.

Since that time the pound has strengthened on world financial markets.

AFRICAN WHITE HUNTER IS ALSO A PSYCHOLOGIST

By E. A. JONES

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Noticing the quivering shoulders of the lady from Boston, the professional hunter moved up beside her from his usual place a half pace behind.

The crash of the lady's gun was followed a split-second later by that of the hunter.

The elephant squealed once, sagged to its knees and rolled over. "Congratulations," said the hunter. "Right through the heart."

Fortunately the lady did not enquire whose bullet found the mark.

"More and more American big-game hunters are coming to Uganda," says Emmanuel Fangoudis — the white hunter who has almost a monopoly of them. "They come in all shapes and sizes, but we try to make sure they go home satisfied."

Some pay $300 per day and money. They want a luxury caravaner through the bush and are prepared to pay the nearly $300 a day it costs. Some are in a hurry. They want to rush to Africa and knock off as much game in as short a time as possible.

They have to be blinkered a little for their own good. Usually it would be possible, operating from Fan-goudis' camp in the game plains near the Congo border, to shoot an elephant in the morning, an eland or some other antelope in the afternoon and a buffalo any time you like. But this type of carnage leaves the hunter nervously and physically exhausted and strangely dissatisfied.

There are many ways in which an over-keen sportsman can be prevented from seeing too much game too quickly and many reasons to advance why he should not shoot everything he sees. Yet he is always left with the impression that it is he who is running the safari. Emmanuel is a psychologist as well as one of the most experienced hunters in Africa.

Tracked Animal Brings More Pride

"Mind you," he says, "I don't do what some hunters do — stretch out the safari by leading clients away from where I know the game is."

"Sometimes I wish I could find the immortal courage to do it. A man takes much more pride in an elephant he has 'tracked down' for a couple of days than in one he knocks over half an hour from camp. He isn't to know the hunter could have led him straight to it at any time during those two days."

Game Dying Out

Despite the fact that big game is fast dying out, the Uganda government does not object to visiting sportsmen.

Help Control Poachers

"A properly organized hunting safari makes little inroad on the herds," says Game Warden T. R. Owen. "It is the disturbance caused by badly organized parties, which

Young Moderns

By Vivian Brown

If you want to be a safe driver, start by enrolling in the driver education course offered by your high school, rather than learn to drive by ear.

So say a group of teen-agers who have won driving contests in the National Teen-Age Road-e-o, an effort that grew out of a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting. This year 300,000 young people participated in communities throughout the country.

Some Never Understand Danger

Charles Hopkins, 19, of Atlanta, Ga., the national winner, says:

"Some kids never understand how dangerous a car can be until they get hurt. They'll get in a car when they're mad or not feeling too good, and then take their mood out on the car. They think that going fast will help them cool off. But instead they may wind up in a hospital. A good driving course will impress dangers on them and show them the advantage of safe driving."

"Lots of kids just think of a car as a play toy," chimed in Mary Jane Sawyer, 18, of McGehee, Ark., a state champion. Her idea was echoed by Vivian Cox, 18, of Pueblo, Col., also a regional winner, who says "Young people are not mature enough to do the right thing in an emergency after they've gotten themselves in a jam by fast driving or taking a chance when passing another car."

The game of "chicken" (where two drivers drive toward each other head-on until the "chicken" gets out of the way) is all but extinct in Atlanta, according to Charles. He says, "An abandoned airport has been taken over for races and we have organized drag strips under the supervision of the police department for hot rodders, so that keeps kids from dangerous driving on public roads."

Isn't Always Driver

It isn't always the driver who causes an accident. "Sometimes prevents the game from breeding, that does the damage."

"Besides, organized parties help to stop poachers, who take a far greater toll than license holders. There have been several instances of licensed hunters chasing poaching parties out of the game areas."

Big-game hunting is a useful source of revenue to the country, too, quite apart from the cost of the licenses.

It is not a poor man's hobby. There is the white hunter's fee and guns, ammunition, tents, porters and transport to be hired. Even the hunter who is prepared to "rough it," shooting his own meat for the pot, pays about $2,000 for a month's safari.

The Story Of Jean Lafitte

How much do you know about Jean Lafitte, the pirate and patriot of bygone days? Where did he come from and where did he go after he helped win the battle of New Orleans?

The unique story of this colorful and romantic buccaner will be told in The Gettysburg Times in four installments beginning next Monday, March 24.

Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, at the request of The Times, has written a thrilling story of this colorful character. He has unearthed little known facts about the life of this exceptional man who came into New Orleans from no one knows where, played an important part in the stirring events of those earlier years and then, just as suddenly, disappeared.

Look for the first installment next Monday and then follow through with the next three articles. They are most interesting.

Taylor

a driver is egged on by another kid who is a passenger and who keeps taunting the driver to go a little faster," Charles says.

"Young people who take the course seem to take their driving more seriously," says Mary, who believes "women are just as capable of good driving as men although they are likely to be more emotionally upset when facing emergencies." Mary is the only one of the group who did not take a course but wishes she had done so.

Charles would like to see his driving instructor, John Crow, "get more credit for the wonderful drivers he makes. He's had winners in the Road-e-o contest each year," Charles says, "and

CIVIL CONTROL IS THREATENED

CHICAGO (AP)—The head of the congressional atomic watchdog committee said Wednesday civilian control of nuclear affairs is being threatened by two military drives.

The more serious threat, Rep. Durham (D-NC) said, is coming from the Defense Department and promoters of conventional fuels and aircraft. He said they are making "a strong play for military development of space vehicles."

Entrance Military Role — Durham, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, characterized the other threat as "the process of nibbling, of proposing detailed changes in the Atomic Energy Act and practices thereunder which may enhance the role of the military."

Durham's speech was prepared for a conference of the Atomic Industrial Forum and National Conference Board.

He said the committee has information indicating atomic energy will play "a key role in long-range space ships with heavy payloads." He said atomic energy would be used for the initial thrust and for possible ion propulsion once the ship reached outer space.

SNOW BLAMED FOR WORK DELAY ON SHORTWAY

HARRISBURG (P)—Highways Secretary Lewis M. Stevens today blamed heavy snow and the magnitude of the project itself for a delay in fixing a date for construction to start on the 300-mile Keystone Shortway.

But he said Gov. Leader would announce the date about April 1 on the basis of surveys being hurried by three engineering firms that have been engaged to lay out a route for the four-lane expressway between Stroudsburg and Sharon.

"Every foot of the way must be walked in driving stakes for this survey," he told a newsman. "In many areas, there have been 30 inches of snow with which to contend."

Stevens also said the highway would be the largest public work ever undertaken in Pennsylvania, adding:

"We're striving will all speed possible to accelerate this project but a project of this magnitude is simply one in which you must look before you leap."

The Keystone Shortway Assn. made a spirited plea at a conference here yesterday for construction to start May 31. Lewis Kepner, secretary of the Milton Chamber of Commerce, asked "why the big secret?" about when the project will get under way.

The conference was the seventh and last in a series of job development meetings called by Gov. Leader to spur 200 million dollars in public works construction in the next 46 weeks.

The governor tentatively estimated that 10 per cent of the 200,000 Pennsylvanians who lost their jobs since last September may be restored to work by his program.

But he emphasized that this back-to-work movement would be in the construction field. He said the real unemployment problem lies in factory layoffs—a matter, he said, for private industry. month, beginning April 1, reports indicating the progress that is being made in the preparation of the plans.

The Kilsdonk Chemical Corp., Lock Haven, was ordered to abate pollution of a stream or submit plans for treatment of its wastes by June 1.

ORDER 2 FIRMS TO TREAT WASTE

HARRISBURG (P)—The State Sanitary Water Board has ordered two Downingtown manufacturing firms to submit plans by Aug. 15 for installation of facilities to treat waste from the plant which the board says is being thrown into the East Branch of Brandywine Creek.

The firms are Downingtown Paper Co., and the S. Austin Bickling Paper Manufacturing Co.

The companies are also required to submit to the board each

News Briefs

YORK, Pa. (P)—Manus H. Grove, 68, collapsed at his home here today while shoveling snow and died a short time later of a cardiac condition.

WASHINGTON (P)—Governors of 10 states will be witnesses at a series of House hearings starting April 14 on the unemployment situation. Pennsylvania's Gov. Leader will appear April 15.

Ask Funds To Film Confederate Records

WASHINGTON (P)—Some old soldiers, especially Confederates, never fade away so far as the National Archives are concerned. A House Appropriations subcommittee was asked for $60,000 to start microfilming cards which contain the military service records of Confederate veterans.

"There has been a great demand for such data from the Southern states which did not get this kind of information from the federal government after the Civil War," U.S. Archivist Wayne C. Grover told the subcommittee.

He said once the cards were filmed, copies could be prepared inexpensively for the 12 or 13 states interested and ultimately the National Archives would have fewer requests for information.

NEW PRESIDENT

growing conviction that it is more vital that men should have college education than that women should have college education.

"In 1957 there were more than 34 million college students of whom slightly over a million were women. It is expected that these figures will double within ten years. That means that perhaps 2½ million women would expect to attend college by 1970. Unless there is a drastic change in the college picture in the next few years, tens of thousands of young women, the type who today assume that college is their heritage, will find the ivy framed doors closed.

Not Women Haters
"College admission officers for the last several years have been taking a very close look at applications from women. These admission officers are not women haters, in fact there is unanimous agreement that women students are good students. But women students will be sacrificed if the idea persists that men need college degrees more than women need them. Today in order to qualify for many jobs men need a college degree. In the highly competitive atmosphere the next ten years will produce, with more and more men having college degrees, the college degree will be the sine qua non.

"President Eisenhower's Committee on Education Beyond the High School estimated the college degree to be worth $100,000. The average man, spurred by such an incentive, may ultimately come to object to women occupying seats in class rooms that they feel rightfully belong to them.

"Despite the positions of equality that women have won for themselves in the past 75 years, the United States has not as yet discarded the patriarchal system. The difficulties with women and higher education are that the idea is only 100 years old, too new to be deeply rooted in the minds of men and despite the fact that women have the edge in numbers, therefore in voting power and have 80 per cent of this country's wealth in their possession, they do not assert themselves but allow men to run their affairs.

"In addition the mother will vote to send her son to college in preference to her daughters. Women have not been liberal in gifts to college and women believe their success in life does not depend upon their own achievements as much as upon the achievements of their husbands.

"Of course if we start today to expand the faculties and facilities of existing schools and open up more junior colleges and area day colleges we may not need to limit feminine enrollment drastically in the co-educational college of the future.

"I have been disturbed over this problem because of the pressure by friends and alumni on behalf of their daughters. I become even more disturbed as I contemplate the chances my granddaughters have of being accepted by a good college.

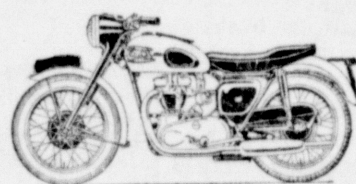

Real Distress Arises
"However my real distress arises when I contemplate the calamity that may follow from any restriction on higher liberal education for the mothers of the future because I am convinced that the home is as important an educational institution as is the school.

"The problems of an atomic age require that mothers have the ability to move with confidence on unfamiliar ground and to perceive elements in situations and their consequences that will be different from anything any generation has experienced before. The distinctive product of a higher liberal education in the United States is a person trained to make intelligent decisions on issues as they arise, to accept more than their fair share of the world's burden and to work with men of good will wherever they are found. I know of no one needing these characteristics more than the teachers, the wives and the mothers of our country."

Flash Fire In Underwear Factory In N.Y. Kills 24

By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (AP) — A flash fire triggered by an explosion shot smoke and flames into a fourth-floor underwear factory in a lower Broadway loft building yesterday, killing 24 persons — 18 of the 36 workers.

A man and woman lived through the two-hour blaze. A medical examiner said most of the victims were asphyxiated before the flames reached them. Several women were leaping from windows by the time the first firemen reached the scene. Six women in all leaped to the street. Two other persons were caught in fire nets; five were rescued via aerial ladders.

15 Persons Hurt
Fifteen persons were injured. Twelve persons — including a truck driver who aided the fire fighters — are in hospitals. Two were in critical condition. The other three were treated and released.

Fire Commissioner Edward P. Dwan said there was no evidence of fire law violations on the premises, adding: "It would seem that panic played a most important role in this blaze. Some bodies were piled one on top of the other — evidence of mass hysteria. At least three jumped evidence of smoke or flame."

An inquiry opens today at the city fire marshal's office. In Albany, Gov. Averell Harriman ordered the State Department of Labor and the Division of Safety to investigate the fire in cooperation with city officials.

"Looked Like Panic"
Mrs. Edna Murray, 33, employed in the workrooms of the Monarch Underwear Corp., who was led to safety by firemen, said: "There was heavy smoke. It was hard to see. People were bumping into each other. It looked like a panic."

Fire broke out when an oven exploded shortly before 4 p.m. on the third-floor textile factory in the five-story structure. A bolt of fabric was being treated in the oven when the blast came. The three employees on the third floor escaped unharmed, as did persons on all other floors but the fourth.

Five-Alarm Fire
Five alarms brought 200 firemen and dozens of pieces of equipment to the scene. But it was almost 6 p.m. — two hours — before the fire fighters, repeatedly balked by intense heat and smoke, were able to enter the fourth floor by aerial ladder.

They saw bodies piled atop one another. Some were heaped near the doorways, others lay under work tables and benches, and some were huddled near windows.

Still alive amid the charred ruins were an unidentified woman and a man. The woman had saved her life by crawling into a large metal container which shielded her from the flames. The streams of water being poured onto the fire cooled the metal enough to keep her from being roasted to death. The man was found flat on his face, hugging the floor.

Praise For Foreman
Among the injured was Edward Wine, 36, a truck driver who volunteered to help hold one of the fire nets. A woman leaping from the building missed the net and landed on Wine, father of five children.

The woman and Wine were taken to a hospital.

Survivors were high in their praise of Abraham J. Becker, 37, Hicksville, N.Y., a Monarch Co. foreman, who not only tried to restore order but went back into the flaming fourth floor time and time again to lead others to safety.

But the World War II veteran, married and the father of two children, did not survive his last rescue attempt. He was overcome by smoke and died.

Washington Whispers

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — Today's young rock 'n' roll and hillbilly singing stars may be grasping fame and fortune, but their recordings aren't included in the nation's top repository for American folklore.

"They're not folk singers," says Mrs. Rae Korson, head of the Archives of American Folklore at the Library of Congress, which already boasts some 60,000 songs and tales on recordings. "They sing published songs. Folk music is handed down from generation to generation orally."

Recording stars Harry Belafonte, Burl Ives, Pick Temple and some of the old favorites, though, could make the grade. "Belafonte sings all types of folk music and has a large collection of his own gathered mostly in Jamaica," says Mrs. Korson. "Also, he spent some time studying at the library before singing at night clubs. We'd like to have some of his recordings."

Not Worried About Elvis
Mrs. Korson is not worried about the current hullabaloo over the Elvis Presleys, Pat Boone and other disc jockey hit stars. "A tremendous interest in our heritage of folksong has been developing in the past five years," she said.

"Increasing numbers come to the library looking for the authentic folksong. They listen, buy records, sing and learn how to play them. Sometimes they bring their guitars with them and learn to play the tunes in accompaniment to the songs."

A steady stream of musicians, teachers, scholars, writers, historians, students and tourists come to archives' "listening room" to play records.

Want To Stimulate Interest
"We are anxious to stimulate interest in the young to carry on research and also to preserve our songs," she said.

There is still a great reservoir of untapped material, she said, and it is important that recordings be gathered from old people still living who remember them.

Under a $25,000 grant from the Carnegie Corp., the library is issuing long-playing records in its series of American folk music and folk lore. Five of these already have been made from material previously recorded.

Mrs. Korson first got interested in folk music through her husband, George Korson, a former newspaper man.

Born in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Korson collected miner songs, later published by the University of Pennsylvania Press. He's now working on a series at Pottsville, Pa., in the anthracite coal mines, under a Guggenheim Fellowship.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (P) — One of Miss Betty Benson's grade school pupils asked how to spell a word that he pronounced "sex."

Miss Benson was surprised but complied. Later she looked at the story the boy had written and saw that it concluded: "I like turtles and in-sex." She explained to the young author how to spell "insects," but he thought the advice was needless. "I already knew how to spell 'in,' he told her. 'I asked you how to spell 'sects.'"

Pensupreme Milk Gets Quality Award

Pensupreme milk, processed by Penn Dairies, Inc., has been awarded top honors by the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association for the best bottle of pasteurized Golden Guernsey milk in the state. Judging is based on the taste, color and purity of the milk.

Pensupreme's laboratories and quality control department is headed by Dr. Charles W. Livak, a Pennsylvania dairy scientist. Under his direction Pensupreme milk is given thousands of daily quality checks, through every operation from farm pick-up to home and store delivery.

Penn Dairies' modern constant flow pasteurizing system is one of the few of this kind in the country. The milk is pasteurized after homogenization. The complete pasteurization process takes place in stainless steel equipment which is regularly inspected, timed and sealed by the State Bureau of Health and Sanitation. From the pasteurizing system the milk is piped to bottling machines without being exposed, at any time during pasteurization or bottling, to air or human handling.

Stamp News

Four beautifully designed multi-colored stamps have been issued by the Kingdom of Laos (formerly a territory of Indo-China). The stamps publicize the main industry and chief crop of the little land—rice.

Depicted are: rice harvesting, rice drying, rice polishing and rice winnowing.

Members of the Niagara Frontier Federation of Stamp Clubs (Canada and New York) decided to "issue" their own stamp in connection with their eighth annual exhibition opening October 5 in Rochester, N. Y. So they combined the George Eastman and Susan B. Anthony commemoratives, reduced them to 1/2 size, and printed them in a souvenir sheet. They will be offered for sale at the exhibition.

Belgium has issued a new stamp to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell and the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement. The 80 centimes depicts the insignias of international scouting and the government of Belgium. The 4 franc shows a portrait of Baden-Powell.

Nearby Liechtenstein also has issued new stamps honoring the same twinn anniversaries. The 10 rappen violet pictures a pine tree. The 20 rappen carmine shows wild roses. The one franc green depicts birch trees. The 10 rappen blue illustrates a torch-light parade. The 20 rappen sepia has a portrait of Lord Baden-Powell.

It may be a little early to mention Christmas but the Australian Post Office Department has issued a bulletin telling about two new postage stamps with a design symbolizing the spiritual significance of Christmas. They will be issued in November.

Advance word indicates that the adhesives will depict a child at prayer and the Star of Bethlehem.

Iraq has issued two new stamps honoring "Development Week" reports the New York Stamp Co. The 3 f green, blue and brown stamp shows a picture of a dam. The 5 f purple, white and green depicts a city street. Both stamps bear a portrait of the king on the left.

$700 'SPECTACULAR'

GREENSBURG, Ind. (P) — Frederick Craig, 15, and Lowell Greer, 13, can sympathize with the woes of Hollywood movie producers.

The two youngsters recently finished shooting on their own $700 epic, complete with color and sound. They took one scene 40 times before it came up to their artistic standards.

It was risky business, too. The film depicted life in a bee colony, and all the "actors" came fully equipped with stingers.

BREAK BRAKES ELEVATOR

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (P) — An elevator jammed with employees stalled between the first and second floors of the State Office Building recently.

The building superintendent explained it this way: "Just a case of overloading. Coffee break rush, you know."

16 BABES DIE OF INFECTION IN TEX. HOSPITAL

HOUSTON, Tex. (P) — A spreading bacterial infection, which resists antibiotics, has claimed the lives of 16 babies in 2 1/2 months in the newborn and premature nurseries at City-County Hospital.

The hospital board of managers said incomplete statistics show at least 81 babies have been infected, and 21 mothers infected in February alone.

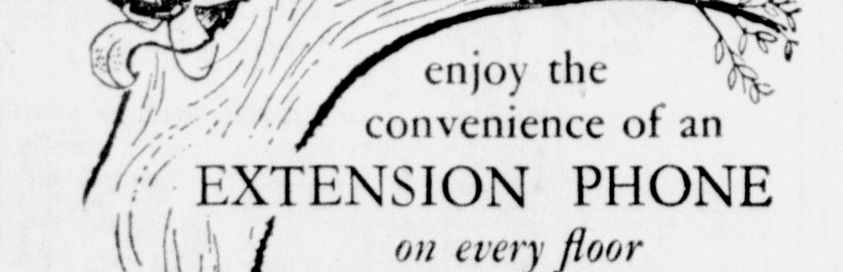

The announcement said the bacteria are suspected of a key role in an increased number of pneumonia cases among elderly patients. It was described as the same epidemic strain that has been picked up in other hospitals throughout the country.

Resists Antibiotics

Staphylococcus causes a myriad of troubles ranging from boils and abscesses to frequently fatal infections such as blood poisoning, pneumonia and other infections.

The increased threat has come about because the bacteria has become resistant to the most commonly used antibiotics, hospital authorities said.

Ben Taub, chairman of the board of managers, said emergency measures are being taken, but added: "These procedures may not be adequate to control the infection among the newborns and in that event the only alternative may be the re-establishment of the maternity and nursery divisions in entirely new locations."

Blames Spring Fever On Hothouse Living In Winter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spring fever is blamed by a university professor on winter hothouse living.

Spring officially starts today. Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse says Californians are generally immune to severe spring fever. The temperate climate allows year-round physical activity, he says.

But the Easterner who reacts to ice and snow by creating a tropical climate within his home, hotel or automobile is a sure victim, says this professor of physical education at the University of California at Los Angeles.

None Since 46 Morehouse, 44, contends he has not suffered spring fever since he moved here in 1946 after being a research fellow at Harvard University's fatigue laboratory.

In his view, the spring-fever victim is out of condition. His temperature-regulating mechanism — they tiny blood vessels under the skin — reacts slowly at first to warmer days. Then these capillaries overreact, as do the heart, larger blood vessels and the blood pressure of an out-of-condition body under sudden stress. This overreaction creates above-normal temperature.

Thus, while Webster defines spring fever — "the lazy, listless feeling which comes to persons with the first warm days of spring" — as a humorous state, the victim actually has a feverish feeling of weakness and inaccurate temperature control.

How To Prevent It To prevent spring fever — and this may do more good next year than this, if you've already got it, Morehouse suggests: Get daily physical activity, indoors or out, to keep your muscles from "hibernating" in winter months. Have frequent and regular exposure to temperature changes at a "gradual and gradual pace."

If you've already got it: Resist

POLICE CAPTURE YOUNG FUGITIVE

CHICAGO (AP) — A young fugitive gunman, who is wanted in California for a series of crimes last month, including attempted murder, was seized by police last night minutes after he held up a Loop pawn shop.

Two policemen, summoned to the shop by a pedestrian who saw the robbery, overpowered Rhodie David Rhonemus, 20, as he emerged from the Clark-Lake Pawners, at Clark and Lake streets.

The policemen said Rhonemus, who was to have been added to the FBI's 10 Most Wanted list of fugitives today, was carrying a loaded revolver. The FBI had said Rhonemus' motto was "Die young and make a good-looking corpse."

Harry Levinson, 49, owner of the shop, said the young gunman forced him and another employee into a vault and robbed a cash box of $200.

Klemm has assembled about six South American canaries for crossbreeding. Averaging about a chick a month, Klemm figures it will take his pets about five to 10 years to come up with an all-red canary.

the initial temptation to outjump the spring lambs or, later, succumb to lassitude. Begin a gradual program of physical exercise. Drink plenty of water. Be more generous with the salt shaker.

300 GARMENT WORKERS OFF JOBS AGAIN

WILKES-BARRE (AP) — Some 300 garment workers again have walked off their jobs at four Pennsylvania garment firms which had signed strike settlements with the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Strikes resumed yesterday at the Bethlehem Garment Co., Bethlehem; Delaware Dress Co., Easton; and Queen City Dress Co., and Matte Dress Co., both in Allentown.

The four plants resigned from the Pennsylvania Garment Manufacturers Assn. last week to join a New York employer group which has settled contracts with the union.

Applications Rejected It was reported, however, that the United Popular Dress Manufacturing Assn. of New York rejected membership applications by the four firms, leaving them without an agreement with the ILGWU.

The new walkouts underlined a statement by William Cherkas, secretary-treasurer of the PGMA, that the strike against PGMA-affiliated plants was not about to end.

On Strike 15 Days His comments contrasted sharply with reports made in the past few days that the settlement was imminent.

More than 10,000 garment workers in upper New York, Delaware and Pennsylvania — all affiliated with the PGMA — have been on strike since last March 5. Other garment plants in a seven-state area settled with the union March 11, but the PGMA refused to go along. The union wants the contract to be industry-wide. The PGMA wants a separate contract for its 300 plants.

The PGMA, in a statement said it "was asked to be bound by whatever the New York association chooses to do. This is obviously another instance of taxation without representation to this we are unalterably opposed."

The union and PGMA announced last Sunday that they had reached "areas of understanding." But at that time it also was reported that hopes of reaching a settlement were dimmed by differences between the PGMA and New York jobbers.

It was also reported that the PGMA was willing to rejoin United Popular from which it resigned last October but that didn't materialize when United Popular refused concessions to PGMA.

Individual awards given by the American Motorcycle Assn. are called Amandas. The name derives from American Motorcycle Assn National Derby Award.

LT. COL. KILIAN DIES WEDNESDAY IN WALTER REED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. James A. Kilian, central figure in a sensational 1946 court-martial stemming from brutality to prisoners in a World War II replacement depot in England, died yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital.

Death of the 67-year-old retired Army officer was attributed to cancer. Kilian, wartime commander of the U.S. Army replacement depot at Lichfield, England, was convicted by a military court of permitting brutality to Army prisoners at the depot guardhouse. He was fined $500 and reprimanded after his trial at Bad Nauheim, Germany, in August 1946.

He contended he knew nothing about the mistreatment.

Court-martial witnesses testified prisoners were struck with clubs and fists, kicked in the body, and forced to stand with nose and toes pressed against a wall for extended periods.

Kilian, a 1914 graduate of the University of Missouri, served as a cavalry officer in World War I and received the Legion of Merit in 1944 for "exceptionally meritorious" service as depot commander.

He is survived by his widow, Kathryn, of suburban Bethesda, Md.; two sons, Army Capt. James F. Kilian of Ft. Holabird, Md., and Lt. Joseph R. Kilian of Ft. Bliss, Tex., and a daughter, Nina Louise Kilian, Bethesda.

SAYS SOVIETS DELIBERATELY BLOCK TALKS

CHICAGO (AP) — Soviet leaders, says Vice President Nixon, are preventing a summit conference by demanding conditions that they know would assure its failure.

"A conference which is not preceded by adequate preparatory discussions is doomed to fail," Nixon told 800 atomic experts attending the 1958 Nuclear Conference. He added that a summit conference which failed would increase rather than reduce international tensions.

The Soviet Union can prove its dedication to peace, Nixon said, "by agreeing that preparatory meetings discuss the substance as well as the form of proposed agenda items."

Heavy Applause

"Only in this way can the summit leaders be assured that they will be spending their time at such a conference in discussing subjects in which an area of agreement is possible, rather than participating in a propaganda exercise which would inevitably increase international tensions."

Nixon drew heavy applause from the atomic scientists when he said: "We must not ignore by military needs or military thinking in exploring outer space, just as we are not so limited in developing nuclear energy."

The best way to insure that a space scientist makes the greatest contribution to national welfare "is to keep him free from the requirements of immediate military necessity," Nixon said.

"The participants in our space program must be free to scout and explore, not mustered solely to man the frontier forts."

Collars, Belts Get Attention For Spring's Easy-Going Coats

Coats are full of fashion news this spring, with the main interest centering around relaxed silhouettes, novel collar and belt treatments and unusual patterns, colors and textures.

The popular barrel silhouette has been modified to accentuate a look of roundness at the top. There are many variations on this theme. One is the spindle, with open pleats from under the sleeves for top width, and a narrow hipline. Another is the chemise, an unfitted, snug hip silhouette.

The "coat-dress" also appears in many versions. It may be unfitted, its waistline barely suggested by inset bands or loosely belted effects placed high or low.

Grant Buttons And Pocket
Often, it is loosely bloused on top with a self belt, drawstring or leather belted waistline, or with slightly dipping contour bands to accent the waist or hipbone.

Other favored styles have fitted or shaped fronts and curved loose backs or a basque top with a high or low waist suggested and a full skirt that may be gathered or pleated. Over-size box coats feature fringe detail and giant button openings in the coat.

Low waisted silhouettes are popular, emphasized by loose, self-fabric belts which slip through openings in the coat.

Back interest shows up in many ways, including draped cowl backs, deep yokes and gathers, pleats or drapes falling from a low, curved inset band.

Airy Necklines
The newest necklines have an airy look, set back and low in front, sometimes self-tied with fringe edges. Mandarin necklines are also popular.

Loopy, shaggy fabrics with mohair look newest, while other favored coatings include open, lacy tweeds, nubby and boucle textures, silk stripes, cotton checks, worsted and linen blends.

Colors range from pale to bright in every hue plus gray, navy and other basics.

Flowers Reflected In Spring Patterns

"Flowers for Madame," the traditional tribute to a lovely lady, is reflected throughout fashion this spring. The gentle beauty of fresh bouquets has been transplanted effectively on fabric. Madame does wear flowers, indeed — printed florals of every description.

The season's most important floral pattern is a rose, the Silk and Rayon Print Institute reports. Roses stem gracefully in big, realistic blossoms, or tiny roses are scattered across the surface of fabrics. Garden roses in wallpaper designs, impressionist roses and print honors.

Other flowers which bloom successfully in fashion include stylized florals, massed forget-me-nots, clusters of pansies, sprays of apple or cherry blossoms.

The importance of prints highlights different patterns, as well. To contrast with the unquestioned popularity of florals, there are plaids, windowpanes and hounds-tooth check prints. There are printed stripes, fancy checks, feathers, paisleys, falling leaves, mottled and brush stroke patterns.

SLENDER SKIRTS IN SIMPLE LINE FAVOR PLEATS

On behalf of fashion's favored easy-going silhouette, spring suits present a diversity of jacket styles, united with slender-looking skirts. Main point of agreement, here as everywhere in fashion, is on the importance of lively colors and eye-appealing, drapable fabrics.

Boxed, bloused, loosely belted, free-flowing or fitting at the hip a la chemise, barrel curved, semi-fitted, mid-length, bolero — these are just some of the jacket shapes that make the season's new suits look very new indeed.

Suppleness at the waistline is the general rule. Where jackets are fitted, they create excitement with dramatic neckline and sleeve treatments — decollete necklines or lantern sleeves, for example.

Styles, Length Vary
Jacket lengths as well as styles vary. The hipbone or shorter jacket is liked for its youthfulness and seems to dominate. Most frequently seen among longer jackets is the tunic length, which can double as a separate coat.

Away from the neck and toward the back is the way collars are moving. Bibs, fur ascots, jewelry or blouses — often provided with the suit — fill in the open necklines attractively.

Fur trims, a fall favorite, take on new importance.

Interesting button and pocket placements, bows and fringe details further accent the new suits.

Skirts — decidedly shorter — follow the simple, supple line, usually in slender shape with a side or back pleat. All around or box

Belts Add Freshness To Casual Sweaters

Attractively decorated belts bring freshness to spring get-togethers of casual sweaters and skirts.

The classic belt of luggage tan smooth leather with gold fastening now is buckled down in new ways — with life-size gate hooks, trunk locks, and even padlocks and keys. Others are studded with brass nailheads and have plain brass buckles.

There are many wide soft belts of crushed leather with draped fronts and self-covered buckles. Hair calf, or calf tanned with the hair on, is used in wide, narrow and contoured belts with narrow metal closings.

Suede belts come in galea new colors such as tangerine, lime, orange and red, and may match skirt and sweater or contrast with them, while color-mated to a suede clutch.

MATCH JEWELRY WITH FASHIONS

Matching of jewelry and clothing fashions is a planned and pretty thing this season, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute.

Color is big news, with jewelry matched to dresses and suits — often in jewel tones such as clear emerald green, soft amethyst or turquoise — or highlighting the predominant hues in beautiful prints.

Another important role of colorful jewelry is as a complementary note for fashions in basic black, beige, gray or navy.

New Finish For Gold, Silver

A new burnished finish for silver and gold gives a fresh look to tailored jewelry. Tiny, tailored jewelry collars are designed to fit the neck gently and provide a fillpleats, gathered fronts, tucked-front apron looks, gored and belted or tapered and V-seamed comprise other notable approaches to suit styling.

SPRING DRESSES CENTER AROUND SLIM, EASY LOOK

Fashion excitement for spring dresses centers around slim, easy silhouettes in general and the chemise in particular.

There are countless interpretations of this newest dress style to come along in a decade. Most extreme is the all-out chemise whose only concession to fit is a gentle tapering over the hips, but which follows body lines at a discreet placed horizontal seams and vertical darts.

The many compromise chemises have perfectly straight backs but shaped fronts, with a half-belt, sash or some other kind of break indicating a waistline at normal or the new lower level. Still another modification is the bat-wing tied in front and rounded in back.

Simulated Two-piece Look

Semi-fitted sheaths are snug through the bust and hips, but ignore the waistline. Other versions are softened by bodice drapes at front, back or sides, or by Paris-inspired cowl backs. Some may be worn with or without a belt at the natural waistline or are loosely belted around the hips.

Many chemises have a real or simulated two-piece look, with the top part pretending to be a suit jacket, midly or overblouse and the bottom half often pleated.

The blouson silhouette, in one and two-piece styles, is another popular alternative to the chemise. The blousing may end at the waist, over a slim or pleated skirt, but looks even newer when carried down to the hips.

Blouson tops are also favored as costume components, especially in sheer fabrics. Other widely endorsed combinations involve unfitted jackets, with the hipbone length still popular as well as the newer medium-short jackets and those waist-length or above.

Newest looking of all are tiny cape-like jackets, worn over easy-fitting sheaths.

Prints give a refreshing new look to coat-and-dress ensembles. Vivid florals in silks and cottons are especially popular, worn over slim dresses in matching prints or a coordinating solid color.

Larger Earrings

Earrings, too, head downward, giving emphasis to deep-crowned hats. Larger, round earrings balance spring's tall turbans.

Wider and bulkier is the theme for bracelets.

Pins have new importance, worn in clusters of three and four, or singly in big, bold, beautiful designs.

Leather Tops Liked For City, Country

Leather tops both city and country costumes this spring. For casual wear, there are many leather pullovers. Middies of white leather, with red ties and wide sailor collars of navy leather are designed to wear with navy wool skirts.

Loose-fitting white leather jackets take sailor collars of bulky knit in navy, while sleeveless and collarless leather pullovers go well over bright jersey dresses.

For city wear, classic jackets appear in new longer lengths, with tailored collars and round, wide-shouldered shape. Color choices include white, pale oyster beige and the many vivid tones popular this season.

Often, the jacket trim ties in with a skirt to make a smart suit. For instance, a white leather jacket has a collar of black wool and companions a black wool skirt.

WOMEN'S SHOES FEATURE COLOR, STRAIGHT SIDES

Women's shoes come straight to the point this spring in simple, straight-sided shapes that depend largely on the beauty of the leather for their distinction. Thus they complement new fashions in clothing, which emphasize line, fabric and color.

Popular choices include sleek, shiny smooth leathers; highly-polished textured leathers with fine, light grains; bright-colored suedes; and patents in both black and bright colors — especially a brilliant, shiny red. Beautiful aniline leather, showing the natural markings of the skin, is often glazed or given a matte finish.

Daytime shoes are cut high and straight, with throats either straight or "V" shaped. Tailored pumps have new trims such as flat bows of real gold or silver, and unvarnished wood buttons.

In spectators the second color or texture of leather is applied in new and fancy shapes.

There are straps galore on all kinds of shoes: T-straps, instep straps, double straps and shaped straps.

More low, curvy heels are seen on daytime shoes.

Dress-up shoes, also simple in shape, boast imaginative trim ranging from large, life-like daisies and anemones to bunches of cherries (these on red patent) to jeweled wishbones.

Colors are bright, with a new bright navy, bright red and an electric blue leading the list. Beige is most often seen in a light "oyster" shade, but very dark beige (almost a light brown) is also important.

Strong, bright pastels include petunia, a purply pink, another

MATERNITY WEAR NOW IN ONE PIECE

For the mother-to-be, fashions take their cue from the latest spring trends, while providing figure flattery and concealment where it's needed.

The one-piece dress for maternity wear has new importance. Especially fresh-looking are chemise styles, carefully designed and cut to avoid any hint of a "bag" or "sack" look.

Two and three piece costumes follow the fashion news, too, with emphasis on harem and blouson tops.

Pretty example of the chemise for daytime is a dress that combines a straight-and-narrow appearance with fullness. In a "miracle" fabric, it's pleated all around and all the way down from a high front yoke. White collar and cuffs and a big bow complete the look. A two-piece-look dress, with flared at front and expandable fullness at back, is another example.

The harem and blouson tops are fast becoming maternity classics, while looking fashionwise and providing needed fullness.

Foundations For Spring Allow Shaping Of Two Popular Looks

Foundations for spring are styled to supply appropriate shaping for each of two popular "looks" — the easy look, chemise-inspired, by day, and the evening look of bared neckline, narrow waist, bell skirt.

The contention is that, far from concealing curves, the daytime silhouette actually reveals them, whether it be a completely unfitted chemise, bloused, low-waisted, or a slightly eased version of the sheath.

Suggested shaping for this silhouette includes lifting and rounding of the bustline, so the dress will fall close to the body, and hip and thigh control, to extend the narrowed look all the way to a short-hemmed hemline.

Narrow Waistline For Evening

For late day and evening fashions, recommended foundations are those that narrow the waistline, to make the skirt stand properly away, and contour the bosom to complete the portrait of femininity, 1958.

To shape the easy look, there are brassieres with modified cups, some lightly padded, some completely soft — and always rounded.

There are waistline girdles with reinforcements of elastic at front, back and sides to trim down hips and flatten the derriere; long-legged pantie girdles to smooth thighs; and corselets combining midriff control with the individual features of girdle and brassiere.

Underlines for the evening look are bra-lettes plunging low front and back, molding the midriff, making little of the waistline.

Brand new are brassieres catering to the deep, wide marquisse neckline. Straps are set far apart, upper cups are shallow and cut low towards the center.

This neckline is repeated in bra-lettes, while brassieres, bra-lettes and corselets alike are designed to dip low in back, for wear under deeply cowed and slit-back dresses.

Emphasis is on the pretty as well as the persuasive in corsetry: laces, satins, delicately patterned elastics and gleaming ribbons abound.

JAPANESE COPS AND POSTMEN IN RALLY CLASHES

TOKYO (AP) — Police and postal workers tangled in minor clashes today as Japanese labor stepped up its annual spring drive for more pay.

Thirty thousand postal and telegraph workers across the nation left their jobs for two-hour rallies. Seventy thousand members of Sohyo, the General Council of Japanese Trade Unions, joined the rallies in sympathy.

In Tokyo 1,000 policemen around the central post office tussled with 2,500 workers and sympathizers. No one was hurt, but minor injuries resulted from similar clashes in other cities.

SEVEN KEYS TO SUCCESS MEAN FOURTEEN SHOES

NEW YORK — A shoe wardrobe is a necessity, not a luxury. The proper shoe for the proper occasion is what the National Shoe Institute recommends.

There's no need to go into the closet and scrap every pair of shoes. There is a need to go into the closet and evaluate the shoes there.

To be well dressed and comfortable, a woman should have a basic shoe wardrobe consisting of at least seven pairs of shoes, each serving a definite purpose. This, of course, can be added to as time and budget allow.

These are the shoes necessary for a good wardrobe:

1. For walking or shopping a sturdy medium heel shoe, either wedge or regular heel.
 2. For suits and tailored clothing a slim medium heel shoe with a minimum of fussiness. A pump or a smart oxford would do here.
 3. For dressy daytime wear, a high or slim medium heel, in a pump or a sandal or any of the variations thereof. The choice of heels will be determined by the type of costume and the length of skirt. This is a daytime shoe; it should be dressy but not overly so.
 4. For after-five, a high heel glamour shoe. This is a "going-out" shoe and may be as daring or dramatic as desired.
 5. For formal occasions, a high heel is the choice. However, the slim medium heel in formal materials is equally acceptable for those who prefer it.
 6. For outdoor leisure, a flat or low wedge heel casual.
 7. For indoors, a lounging or casual, either flat or heeled. A boudoir and bath slipper must also be included.
- It costs a smart shopper surprisingly little to build a shoe wardrobe. And having shoes enough to permit frequent changes is a money-saver in the long run. All your shoes last longer. So will Poppa's bank account.

Union carried out a slowdown strike, especially on freight trains, and the miners union, now on a 48-hour strike, intends to call 35,000 of its members off the job indefinitely starting Friday.

The three unions seek wage boosts ranging from $5.55 to $6.66 a month. Basic wages range from $44 to $51.50.

The ship elevator on the Hohen-zollern Canal between Berlin and the Oder River can take vessels 11 feet up or down in five minutes.

Sweaters Reflect Fashion Trends

Sweaters in many lengths and styles reflect the fashion news of the season.

The gently-bloused look appears in pullovers with elasticized waist-lines. Borders of contrasting stitching refresh the classic cardigan, while graded stripes appear on both pullovers and cardigans. Brief versions of the sweater include gala embroidered boleros.

Neckline news centers around pullovers with straight-across necklines running from shoulder to shoulder and bateau-necklines with cowl drapes.

HOSIERY COMES IN MANY HUES

Color-coordinated stockings for costume completion enter spring as an established fashion, and, just as one would expect of springtime, the new nylons have lighthearted and spring-like tones, fresh fruit colors, flower garden and budding leaf shades, and sea and sky colors.

Orange, golden and rosy shades have fashion importance, and hosiery is hued to blend.

For instance, spring nylons are in such delectable shades as "peach," "nectarine," "tangerine," "mango," and "citronade." There are also pale yellows, such as "lemon drop," and greenish golds, such as "olive."

Pink nylons vary from pale "peony" through lively "flamingo" to blazing "rocket red."

Stockings to blend with blue outfits vary from misty sky blues through frosted blues such as "blue lagoon," and "seafoam," a cool turquoise to deep marine blues. All have a warm intensity — never a chalk-like appearance.

Hosiery greens softly blend from many golden greens such as "sea grass" or "atmosphere" through lettuce, leaf bud and olive greens. Compatible to beige outfits from pale string through deep amber in hue, beige nylons have been designed with many color subtleties. These range from palest whipped cream tones through golden and green beiges, deepening into sandy and champagne shades.

Pale to medium grays, off-blacks either grayed or browned, medium to not-too-dark browns and blues from medium through navy are stocking shades intended to wear with spring's basic, perennial colors.

SLIPS TO HAVE UNBROKEN LINE

Slips this spring are designed to hug the body smoothly, especially over the bust and hips and with an unbroken line at the waist. Lines are slim to conform with the slim lines of the chemise and other newly relaxed but slender fashions.

Dome and balloon shape petticoats and, in softer fabrics, harem and ruffled skirt petticoats provide proper fullness under dome-dresses.

One innovation is a beruffled pannier to prop up bubble and barrel skirts. It consists of two separate side panels formed by rows of nylon net and lace ruffles, attached to an elastic waistband and tapering to just above the hemline.

Worn over a slip or pettiskirt, the pannier allows for flatness in the front and back, fullness at the sides.

Another new idea is a back-dipping petticoat to wear under formal fashions with hemlines that are high in front and low in back. It is floor length in back, twelve inches from the floor in front.

In the sleepwear picture are many sportswear themes, including short sleepers with pleated skirt-shorts attached, suspended and bib front "garden" pants, Jamaica-length pajama bottoms and blouson tops.

Popularity of the nautical look in sportswear is reflected in sleepwear with fabric motifs, color and sailor details that carry out the theme.

SPRING GLOVES MAKE BIG NEWS

To glorify the supple silhouette of fashion, accessories have assumed new importance this spring, and gloves are no exception. They feature exciting colors and distinctive patterns and trims. Making news, too, are longer eight-button lengths.

Newest glove colors are off-white shades of oyster and bone and pale shades of willow green and delicate almond yellow, along with water color tones of blue and pink.

Also new and popular are the bright, clear citrus and apricot shades and the whole family of blues. Navy and red are favored as accent colors.

Embroidered touches of all kinds include cutout embroidery, Schiffl embroidery and floral motifs, with white-on-white embroidery looking especially refreshing.

Among the other popular glove trims are laces, little bows, seed pearls, tear drop buttons, fagoting, perforations and satin stitching. The new longer length is often shirred.

CHEMISE STYLE ADDS EASE TO SPORTS WEAR

"Ease" is a word that has long been associated with sportswear, but never more so than this spring, thanks to the influence of the chemise silhouette and oval-effect skirts and jackets.

Favorite casual chemises are slim and tapering, by-passing the waist but fitted through the bust and hips. Especially new-looking are chemise play-dresses which may be worn as a substitute for Bermuda shorts and are about the same length.

Many are reminiscent of the tennis dresses worn during the 1920's, with low-slung belts, camisole tops and pleated skirts.

Extends To Playsuits

The chemise influence even extends to chemise playsuits and the pantaloons overall, an easy-fitting one-piece play fashion with a bateau-neck.

It is also evident in jackets marked by a low blousing above an extremely wide hipband and in the many versions of the over-bouse teamed with all manner of pants and slim or pleated skirts.

The popular nautical look is the inspiration for a tidal wave of middies, "officers" jackets, yachting blazers and such trims as braid and brass buttons.

Coordination Popular

Colorful, distinctive prints are bigger-than-ever favorites in every fabric, including knits.

There are bold madras plaids, tropical island scenes, foliage and flower patterns, harlequin effects, "racing silk" stripes, checks and polka dots, intense batiks and such unusual designs as miniature liquor bottles, chessmen and turtles.

Coordination continues to be popular, with many print-and-plain combination and color-matching in the same or different fabrics. Silk is a big favorite, as are knits and jerseys.

Also well-liked are the many easy-care blends and the whole cotton family.

Silhouette Of Chemise Style Shapely As New Fashions Prove

It's the era of the chemise. But all in favor of femininity are urged to be of good cheer. Whether low-waisted or no-waisted, easy fitted or unfitted, the spring '58 silhouette of the new chemise and its fashion relatives is shapely rather than straight, as the supple new coats, suits, dresses and separates delightfully prove.

With the chemise as inspiration, fashion plays many variations on the major theme of the slender, relaxed look. Shorter shirts accompany the look, and gracefully simple lines get emphasis through attractive trims, newly bold colors and beautifully textured fabrics.

As for the variations, there's the chemise itself — sometimes a smooth flow of fabric fitted only at the hips, and sometimes back. Chemise lines are seen in coats and suits as well as dresses. Alternatively, and importantly, there's the bloused look — a bloused top above a slim, easy skirt. This may be expressed through back blousing only, but all-around blousing sometimes on a curving line that's up in front, down in back, is winning increasing approval.

Features An Overblouse
Another relaxed silhouette features the overblouse — a lightly fitted, hipbone length top above, again, a slim skirt. The overblouse silhouette appears in two-piece and two-piece-look dresses, in suits and separates. In the case of coats, the same effect is often created by hip-level detailing.

Oval shaping goes its graceful way in coats and suit jackets, with softly rounded backs widest at the shoulders and tapered to the hem. This is the same shape seen in chemise dresses with fitted-look fronts.

Relaxed, too, are the lines of boxy coats and slim coats — the latter often loosely belted at the hipline.

Suits make their fashion stand on a variety of easy jackets combined with simple skirts. The little jacket barely covering the

Silks, Sheers Are Favored For Bride

Gowns for this spring's bride offer a choice of many dramatic new silhouettes. Silks and sheers are favored fabrics.

One of the most popular treatments consist of smooth fronts combined with fullness at back and sides, achieved by tiers, puffs, harem-effects, ruffles or floating panels.

That perennial favorite, nylon tulle, is the perfect choice for gowns with a "little girl" look, featuring bouffant skirts and short-sleeved bodices.

Other airy bridal fabrics are silk organza embroidered nylon sheer, eyelet-embroidered cotton and cotton organza.

Chapel-length is liked for trains. Separate trains, removable for after-the-wedding dancing, appear on many gowns.

FOCUS ON NECKLINES

Fashion interest often focuses on necklines this season. A favorite is the set-back neckline, sometimes with a collar that develops into a cowl drape at the back. Wide standaway collars add important top width to the silhouette.

Top interest may also be achieved by high-placed pockets, V-shaped pleats or deep armholes.

Waistline is a distinctive entrant. Slightly longer jackets, fitted at the hip, free-flowing from the shoulder on easily belted, are other important suit components.

Suit Skirts Slim
In most cases, suit skirts are slim and eased with a pleat at side or back. All-around knife pleats, box pleats or gores for a gentle flare appear among the skirt looks.

Sheath and shirtwaist dresses emerge as fashion classics with this-season airs and so demand a place for themselves in spring wardrobes. Both show the influence of the chemise — the sheath by frequently doffing its belt and always by displaying easier lines, the shirtwaist by exchanging its full skirt for one with restrained fullness or completely slender lines.

Costumes galore are the order of the season. Some of the favorites are dress plus jacket, suit plus coat, skirt plus coat, and jacket and skirt plus blouse.

Boldness Of Color, Design
Buttons, pockets and bows adorn spring fashions in imaginative ways. Self-fabric trims, too, are important — such as self-fringe on neckline ties, jacket and/or skirt hems. Tie-belts are often slotted through the dress, suit or coat at the hipline.

Boldness in color, design and size is a frequent characteristic of accessories to accent the simple, supple fashion silhouette, and head-to-toe color matching, with lingerie included, continues in cluded, continues in both solids and prints.

NEW COLORS IN LEATHER WILL PLEASE WOMEN

NEW YORK — If your shoes were painted on your feet, they couldn't be brighter or prettier this spring. Many of the rich, imaginative colors to be shown this season will be at their most brilliant with the extra depth which leather gives them.

Red, of course, is the most talked-of among the new vivid colors and leather is favored this spring as the most beautiful way to see red. Probably the newest of the leather reds is one with a hint of coral that makes it as bright as a flying spark. There is an outburst of this red in patent as well as smooth and suede leather, the Leather Industries of America reports.

Azure Blue Leather
Next to red in popularity will be an azure blue leather. It will be seen either alone, accented neatly with white, or in the famous tri-color: red, white and blue.

White leather, both textured and smooth, will also be used to set off bright orange and green in two-color shoes. And many one-color bright shoes will be accented with washable white leather soles.

There will be a whole group of exotic bright leathers including pueblo yellow, turquoise, Caribbean pink, petunia, tropical orange, salad green, raspberry and shrimp. A new mellow golden olive and a linden green, the color of the linden tree's leaves, are also exciting.

Brighter Leathers
Sometimes these bright leathers will be made even brighter by a trim and neat sole of washable white leather. And bright leather linings will match or contrast with the outside of the shoe.

Traditional navy, as much a part of spring as the robin, will bloom this year in a spanking bright new shade.

Neutrals will be given new interest. Beiges, for instance, will be newest in very light bone tones or slightly touched with green. Tan will be represented by the warm benedictine shade. There will be some gray and loden green, but these will be limited to sports shoes.

Shoe Of Many Colors
Some designers have been so delighted with this spring's new leather colors that they've thrown a whole basketful of them exuberantly in one shoe. One, of yellow, pink, red, blue and green smooth leather in a floral print, is as fresh and appealing as a flower garden coming into bloom.

Another smooth leather shoe combines emerald and salad green with grayed green and muted yellow in long stripes from heel to toe. While one of the boldest mix-ups is a vibrant green, red and blue suede.

Other leather color combinations bright enough to make you catch your breath are: turquoise, melon and yellow; light green, blue and white; and blue, pink and purple.

Swing To Silk Keeps Growing This Spring

Fabrics that win fashion's favor this spring are supple, interestingly textured and ideal for enhancing the easy-fitting new styles of the season.

With this trend, the swing to silk is ever more pronounced. Silk appears in everything from lingerie to coats, and in a wide variety of textures. Gaining great popularity are the silk tweeds, herringbones, nubby and slubbed rustic weaves, shantung and honan textures.

Then there are the smooth, firmly woven silks, the crinkly chiffons, the elegant satin-surfaced silks.

Silk's affinity for other fibers is illustrated by the many blends — silk with cotton, rayon, acetate, wool or miracle fibers.

Coat and suit woollens join the trend to texture with a variety of pebbly surfaced worsteds and other dimensional effects.

Lightweight, lightly textured woollens are liked for dresses, with special attention to crepes.

Spring's cottons appear in suits and coats as well as dresses and sportswear, in honeycomb and waffle weaves for the popular textured look. Easy care characterizes most cotton wearables.

SPRING HATS HAVE BRIMFUL OF VARIETIES

Spring 1958 hats are brimful of flattery. The fashion news is in brims of every size and shape, with brimmed hats styled for every occasion, every costume, every mood. Color runs riot, and black and white punctuate the colorful scene.

Smoothly rolled-up bretons make face-framing halos, whether small, medium-sized or full-blown. Bretons and rollers, fashioned of straw and of fabric, simply banded with ribbon or prettily wreathed with flowers, are designed to be worn well back on the head.

Hats with upswep lines appear with many different types of brim. There are brims that turn sharply skyward at the back of small, curving Watteau bonnets and wide, sunshade brims.

Create Dashing Effect
Sometimes, brims sweep upward at each side, padre-fashion. Edges of brims are rolled up around trimly tailored derbies and debonair boaters. Brims that turn up both front and back create dashing bicorne silhouettes.

Equally important are hats with a downward dip of brim. Narrowest of these brims are seen on high-crowned "flapper" cloches, partly tilted to one side.

Bucket-shaped bonnets and high "chemise" cloches have small downward brims that melt into their crowns without benefit of headband. Floppy, irregular brims are featured on swagger casuals. Gently rippled brims are seen on afternoon hats and wide-brimmed portrait styles.

Brims that spread from almost nothing on one side to a profile-shading fan at the other are attractively asymmetrical.

Off Face Turbans Elaborate

While the most dramatic brims usually are combined with simple, head-hugging crowns, more intricate crowns appear above smaller brims. Sometimes taller crowns are used even with plain, wide brims, but they are softened, crushed and gently manipulated.

The very tallest, most elaborately draped crowns are seen in off-face turbans that are the exception to the rule of brimmed hats for spring.

These new hats are made in a wide range of attractive straws and fabrics, with plain or fancy trimmings. Ribbon bands and edgings, tailor-bows and little-girl streamers match or contrast with the hat color.

Brims may be faced with velvet,

Colors For Spring Sure To Be Popular

Call them tropic colors, call them hot, call them Tahitian or impressionist. Whatever the name, the colors of spring's fashion palette are vibrantly alive and bubbling with excitement.

Two color families vie for the spotlight. One is orange, yellow, and red, the other blue and green. Orange in all its shades is the darling of fashion's new color spree. In marigold, sherbert, apricot and pumpkin tones, in all possible shades between pink and lemon yellow, orange appears in everything.

Yellow Wins Attention
Yellows, especially lemon yellow, reds and hot pinks win attention and approval.

Vivid greens, important in all fashions, are represented in a lively range.

Their cousins, the blues, find strong favor in vibrant shades of Bristol glass, ceramic tones, sea shades, and purple casts.

Not to be forgotten are the neutrals notably navy and black, the brown to yellow beige family, and delicate pearl grey.

plique, strawbraid or patterned veiling. Flowers are used singly, in clusters, or with leaves and berries in wreaths.

FURS ADD MUCH ELEGANCE FOR 1958 FASHIONS

Simplicity of line, richness of color and fabric — to these important elements of the spring fashion story, little furs add a large helping of elegance.

Interpretations of the stole, shrug, cape and jacket reflect the growing tendency to handle fur as if it were cloth, with very graceful results. Distinctive designs, using pelts that are let out or specially created to drape softly, effectively develop the outstanding trends of the season.

Easy chemise lines, tapered cocoons, bloused and rounded-back shapes make their mark in fur cape and jacket fashions.

Necklines Change
Liked, too, are away-from-the-neck lines, curving hemlines and fur trimmings on fur — such as a black mink collar for a broad-tail processed lamb jacket that's waist-length, buttoned, and styled to stand slightly away from the body.

Stoles, very long and straight, gently curved or designed to drape into a capelike effect, are among the fashion leaders. Important furs for the stole include mink, with emphasis on black-dyed or pastel hues, and fox, in blue, black, white and dyed pastels.

Fur Jackets And Stoles
The little fur jacket competes with the stole for spring attention. Here, the most frequently seen furs are mink and broadtail-processed lamb.

A refreshing example is the double-breasted pastel mink jacket, with low cut, softly rounded collar.

New look for formal furs is provided by white broadtail processed lamb in waist-length or longer jackets, sometimes collared in white mink. These make dramatic evening appearances.

SAYS U. S. MUST BE KEPT STRONG

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said Wednesday the free world must be kept strong enough to deliver a counterblow of devastating effectiveness in the event of a surprise attack.

As long as the United States and its allies can do that, McElroy told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the likelihood of all-out nuclear warfare will remain relatively remote.

Supports Foreign Aid Program
McElroy appeared with Gen. Nathan Twining in support of President Eisenhower's $3,942,092,500 foreign aid program. This includes military supplies and economic support.

Chairman Green (D-RI) announced his committee hopes to complete hearings on the big foreign aid authorization bill before Congress recesses for Easter. This is the goal, too, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which started hearings some weeks ago on the same measure. The actual money will be in a later appropriation bill.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Something radically new in 8mm home movie machines is about to hit the market: A camera that is also its own projector.

It will soon emerge from three years of guarded development by a concern not previously connected with photography, which may explain why news of its development was so long kept secret.

The new camera-projector is called the Wittnauer Cine-Twin. Here are the details:

In Two Sections

It's a cine twin because it comes in two sections. The upper section is a camera and/or projector. The lower section is the power base for the projector only.

The camera is longer than present 8mm types, heavier (about four pounds) and features a four-lens turret, electric no-wind operation and on optical zoom view finder. Within 30 seconds, it can be operating as an 8mm projector by clicking into place on its power base.

The same film transport and gate mechanism is used in both shooting pictures and in projecting film. One electric switch in the base operates the projector running mechanism, the blower and rewind systems.

Camera Powered By Batteries

In changing from camera to projector, a camera cover is removed and two arms swing into place to hold the full and empty film reels. The fourth lens on the turret is the projection lens and clicks into place. The protected projection bulb is always in place and provides the light.

The camera itself has no spring or crank handle. It is powered by three regular flashlight batteries contained in a sealed compartment, estimated to handle a full year of average filming. Before the batteries need replacement, the movie-maker is warned that power is getting low. A glow visible in the view finder, disappears and is an advance signal that the batteries should be changed soon.

Power operation enables one to shoot a scene as long as the action continues or until the 25 feet of film is used up. In some cases this is a wonderful advantage; in other instances, it can lead to drastic over-shooting by trigger-happy filmers.

Viewfinder Matches Lenses

The zoom type optical viewfinder matches its views with its corresponding lenses by identifying letters which match as they click-stop into place.

A large, legible exposure chart on the camera uses colors to guide the movie-maker for proper exposures. An oversized footage meter is another boon to the photographer who wants to keep track of his footage without straining his eyes.

All of these innovations were designed because the Longines-Wittnauer Watch Co. decided that the 8mm home movie field was the most rapidly growing part of photography and that their know-how in their own field could be readily adapted. At the same time, they bought out the Bolsey camera company and are announcing a complete line of 14 new 35mm cameras under the Wittnauer name. While the Cine-Twin is the very latest development in the 8mm field, there has been other recent outstanding news.

There's the Bell & Howell 8mm electric eye model which uses the energy of light itself to set the camera for proper exposures. Shooting movies, then, is merely a matter of pointing the camera at the subject and pressing the button since there is only one speed, 16 frames per second, and no focusing. If there is not enough light for proper exposure, a warning signal is seen in the view finder.

An innovation in projecting is another Bell & Howell first. Their Filmovara is the first variable-focus lens for 8mm projectors. By rotating its front element, this 7.15 zoom lens changes the screen image size without moving the projector. Its focal length can be varied from 13mm to 20mm. At its shortest focal length, it gives a larger picture size than standard projection lenses. It enables you to zoom in for an enlarged close-up of your child's face, for instance, during the running of a family film.

Twenty-eight of the 48 states permit non-resident motorists identical privileges granted in his home state without necessity of changing license plates and driving licenses. Banana quick bread is delicious; it also makes a fine sandwich bread when used with a filling of cream cheese.

HOUSING BILL PASSES HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, without debate or a record vote, passed in one minute and sent to President Eisenhower Wednesday a $1,850,000,000 emergency housing bill.

The only comment was that of Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) who raised the parliamentary point that a majority of the membership was not present. But Hoffman did not press his point. He remarked that he didn't know what was in the bill anyway.

It appeared that no more than 100 members were on the floor. There had been some advance indications that opposition might be raised to a provision of the bill allowing the President to raise interest rates on GI home loans to 4 1/2 per cent from 4 1/4 per cent. In addition to that provision, the bill continues GI home loan purchases for two years for World War II veterans until July 25, 1960.

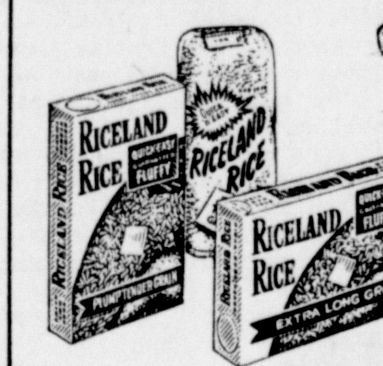

It also authorizes lower minimum down payments for homes purchased on government insured FHA mortgages, and authorizes new federal outlays for various housing programs.

Are vitamins medicine?

Door-to-door salesmen are selling "vitamin preparations" these days and you may think these are therapeutic doses. They may or may not be. Point is, that you can't know whether they are or not, and the salesman probably isn't qualified to know whether you even need them. If you do need vitamins in therapeutic quantities, only your physician can tell you what you need and how much, and only your registered pharmacist should dispense them. Where your health is concerned, always rely on competent professionals.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 15 years in Washington this writer has never seen anything more fouled up than what happened yesterday at the White House after President Eisenhower conferred with eight state governors.

It was hard to tell whether a rabbit was being pulled out of the hat or a rabbit was being put back into a hat.

Eisenhower called in the governors to discuss his idea of providing federal money to those unemployed workers who have used up the jobless pay given them under the federal-state system of unemployment compensation.

Dole Or Loan?

When Eisenhower first offered his idea March 8 he seemed to indicate he was thinking of a grant—a gift, which didn't have to be paid back—to the states to give to the unemployed who had exhausted their UC benefits.

This would be a plain dole. The idea of a dole got furious reaction within Eisenhower's own administration. Then administration people began talking of a loan, not a grant, to the states.

So nothing was clear when the governors went in to see Eisenhower. When they came out and held a group news conference this was the main question: Was Eisenhower thinking of a grant or a loan?

That news conference was plain hash. It was so vague it was almost unbelievable. James Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary, was there and could have cleared it up, or tried to, but he didn't.

Then the reporters tackled the governors individually. Republican Gov. Knight of California and Democratic Governors Rosellini (Washington), Faubus (Arkansas) and Muskie (Maine) talked of the federal help as being in the form of grants.

Knight and Rosellini told this writer the grant idea—requiring no repayment by the states—was the only one on which all eight governors agreed.

Different Version

But then a White House spokesman gave a different version after newsmen, now thoroughly confused, besieged him for clarification. He said the President was thinking in terms of a loan that would have to be paid back.

He was asked how there could be such a difference of interpretation on what the President had in mind that the governors talked of a grant and he talked of a loan. The spokesman said: "Well, if you were a governor you might look on it as a grant while we look on it as a loan."

Then he got into the arithmetic to explain how states—while getting the money as a "loan"—might not have to raise any new money to pay it back. But when it came down to details on how this could be done, this was the answer: this was something which would have to be worked out.

But there is the point: all but perhaps six states have enough money in their own UC funds to extend the period in which the jobless can draw UC—in most states the maximum is 26 weeks—but they have declined to do so.

So this writer asked one governor who wished to remain unnamed: "Since no more than six states might need federal help to extend the jobless pay period, all the rest have enough money to do it, if they want to, why should the government have to hand out money to those other 42?"

He said: "That's the best question of the day. And the best answer to it is that the question answers itself."

At this point it seems safe to say the Eisenhower administration is all fogged up itself on what it's going to propose.

See Unemployment Hitting New High

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune said today that top government economists have come to the firm conclusion that unemployment is climbing to a new postwar high this month.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added in part:

They predict that the official government employment report, which is to be made public in early April, will show a fresh increase of 200,000 in the number of jobless workers.

Unemployment hit a 16-year high of 5,173,000 in February.

U. S. Jets On Good Will Flight Today

TOKYO (AP)—Six U.S. jet warplanes sped south today on a good will visit to salute New Zealand's air force and demonstrate the mobility of Western airpower.

Four F100 Super Sabres and two RB66 twin-jet light bombers took off from Yokota Air Force Base near Tokyo on the first leg of their 1,360-mile flight. They will refuel in flight and stop at Guam and Brisbane, Australia. They are due in New Zealand next Tuesday.

Right handed pull hitters will love the Coliseum, new home of the Los Angeles Dodgers. The stands are only 250 feet away down the left field foul line.

SAYS AMERICA EXPLODED INTO NEW LIVING ERA

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — America has exploded into a new and disturbing era of urban living, and it may be a generation before people understand what is happening to them in and around the great cities, the National Health Forum was told Wednesday.

Luther Gulick, head of the Institute of Public Administration, New York, and the Governmental Affairs Institute, Washington, told representatives of 63 member organizations of the changes.

"The pace of the transition to an urbanized civilization is terrific. The size of the urban spread is large beyond all past experience. Characteristic of this development is a fluidity of population and of economic life, changing the basic structures of the society," he said.

Can't Escape Domination
Gulick said that there is no real escape from the domination of this new metropolitan culture.

In the dramatically evolving metropolis of tomorrow, Gulick said, the mark of obsolescence lies heavily on awkward street patterns, mass transportation systems that are collapsing in more than a few places; unsatisfactory central city housing; makeshift or patched up water and sewer systems; school plants and programs that are behind the needs.

Lawlessness among youth, he said "is serious in itself, but is doubly insignificant as an indication of deep social failures in the family, the neighborhood, the school, recreational opportunities and other community facilities."

So what it comes to is this, he concluded: "The real things we need are brains, character, drive, organization and leadership."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

THE WINTRY TOUCH — England too has been having its share of snow this winter. A recent snowfall coated the Old Pack Horse Inn in the Midlands town of Chapel-en-le-Frome to provide a scene reminiscent of old Christmas cards. Contemporary note is added by automobile.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press
Good news for collectors of U. S. commemoratives!

Here are the details on the 8-cent stamp honoring Ramon Magsaysay, late president of the Philippines. It will go on first day sale at Washington, Aug. 31.

The central design of the red, blue and gold adhesive is a medal on which is depicted the head of Magsaysay. Directly above the medal is a torch of liberty behind two crossed sprays of leaves. The words "Champion of Liberty" appear atop the stamp.

Can Obtain First Day
Collectors desiring first day covers may send their addressed envelopes, together with money orders to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D. C. Since this is a large size stamp, covers should be addressed in the lower left corner, particularly when blocks are desired.

The central design for the 6-cent airmail to be issued for the nation's capital on Aug. 1 will feature a B52 Stratofortress in a banking position with three F104 Starfighters in the background. The Air Force eagle and thunderbolt shield appear in the upper left corner superimposed over a portion of the wing of the Stratofortress.

The wording "Fiftieth Anniversary United States Air Force" is at the top of the adhesive.

Collectors seeking first day covers are reminded to send their envelopes to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D. C. prior to Aug. 1.

The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 6-cent Air Force Stamp."

The United Nations Day stamp for 1957 will honor the Security Council. Scheduled for issuance Oct.

24, it will be in both the 3-cent and 8-cent denominations.

Depicted will be the U. N. emblem shedding light on the globe. The wording "Security Council to maintain international peace and security" appears in English on the 3-cent tan stamp and in French on the 8-cent green.

First day cover collectors may send for the stamp six weeks before the date of issue.

Panama soon will issue a set of regular and airmail stamps to mark the seventh Pan-American Highway Congress to be held in Panama Aug. 1-10. The 3-cent will show the Isthmian Highway. The 10-cent airmail will depict a road under construction. The 20-cent airmail will illustrate the Darien road project. The 1 balboa airmail will show the Pan-American Highway.

Norway has issued three new stamps honoring the International Geophysical Year, reports the New

LONG RANGE RESEARCH ON SPACE URGED

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today the scientific leaders of the U. S. satellite program have recommended to the administration a long-range program of space research.

The program looks toward exploration of the moon and planets and manned space flight, a Washington dispatch to the newspaper added.

More Satellites

The story also said in part: The far-reaching recommendations for scientific research in outer spaces were drafted by the earth satellite panel of the United States National Committee for the International Geophysical Year.

The program—to follow the end of the geophysical year in December—calls for launching progressively bigger and more complex scientific satellites in the coming years.

The satellites would probe farther and farther into space until finally satellites were circling or landing on the moon and the planets.

The panel says that all this would be but "the prelude to the drama to follow"—manned flight into outer space.

York Stamp Co. The 25-kroner green shows Jan Mayen Island in the sub-Arctic. The 35-k maroon and grey depicts the Svalbard Islands north of Norway. The 65-k blue and green illustrates a map of the Antarctic, featuring Dronning Maud Land, the sector claimed by Norway.

To honor the fifth centenary of Capranica College, the Vatican has issued four new stamps. The 5-lire magenta and 35-lire grey show a view of the college. The 10-l brown and 100-l blue bear a vignette portrait of Pope Pius XII.

Stamp News

By SYD RONISH

Christmas in Cuba comes minus snow but not without religious fervor. The latest set of two stamps from that country is a philatelic indication of this feeling.

The 2-centavos and the 4-centavos adhesives depict the Nativity. Both are multi-colored and of the same design.

The International Red Cross performs many services for the stricken and needy in times of disaster. And the latest Red Cross set of two stamps from France illustrates two examples of the people helped on such occasions.

The 15 franc plus 7 franc shows two elderly men walking with the aid of canes. The 20 franc plus 8 franc depicts two old women with canes. The Red Cross symbol appears on both stamps.

The additional values go to the French Red Cross.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the commemorative stamp honoring the Garden and Horticultural Clubs of America will be placed on first day sale at Ithaca, N. Y. on March 15, 1958.

News of this stamp was noted previously in this column. Details of the design and color, however, will be given soon.

The newly published 1958 edition of Scott's United States Specialized Catalogue reveals that prices of blocks of four have skyrocketed among the older U. S. regular issues. The book has changed or inserted 8,332 prices. Many revisions in listings have been made.

A block of four which tripled in price is the 5-cent red brown of 1855. It went from $3,000 to $9,000. The 5-cent buff of 1861, in unused block of four, has been raised from $3,500 to $10,000. The cent 1847 block jumps from $5,000 to $1,500 unused and from $4,000 to $6,000 used.

Numerous changes have been made in first day covers, air-mails, carriers, envelopes, proofs, postal cards and locals.

The French Congo, which was the official name of the French colonies in Equatorial Africa, is now renamed A. E. F. (l'Afrique Equatoriale Francaise.)

CONVICT TELLS LIVING 22 YEARS AS A FUGITIVE

By THOMAS DYCARD

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — About dusk on a December day in 1934 Roy Hunkins boarded a bus in downtown Jackson and rode to Chicago.

He changed buses at Chicago and rode to Kansas City.

There, in a strange city, he got a room under the name of Harry E. Bennett. He got a job as a farm laborer. Later he worked as a wrapper in a shipping department, as a carpenter, as a ditch foreman over 15 men, as a maintenance man in an office building, and as a door-to-door campaigner in a gubernatorial campaign.

He married and after 11 years was divorced. Then he married again. That marriage ended in a separation. He fathered a child by his second wife.

Harry E. Bennett, laborer, husband, father, was Roy Hunkins, an escaped convict.

Successful Fugitive
For 22 years and five months he was a successful fugitive.

During that time he told no one that he was Roy Hunkins, who had walked away from Southern Michigan State Prison while a trustee, serving 10 to 20 years for armed robbery.

He had served five years and had 2½ years to go for parole.

He told no one that before his escape he had served time—a total of about 17 of his 32 years—for car theft, larceny, desertion from the Army, parole violation, and other offenses.

Was Recognized.
Then, because of his tangled family life, he started to travel. His journey led to his home town of Kalamazoo, Mich., where he wanted to visit a cousin. Somebody recognized him.

Now he is No. A-95371, finishing a term for armed robbery.

Prison officials are checking his record outside the last 2½ years. It is clear, he probably will get out in a few months. He now is 61.

"It never bothered me much that I was an escapee," he said, "until my little boy was born two years ago."

Wanted Custody Of Son
Hunkins was intent on getting custody of his son when his second wife left him, but he discovered he would have to go to court to do it. After 22 years, "I finally found something I wanted to do and couldn't do because I was a con."

He claims he returned to Kalamazoo to give himself up and square his record.

Life on the outside had its edgy moments for Hunkins-Bennett.

Twice he almost ran into men he had known in prison.

"I saw them on the street and ducked," he said. "They didn't see me."

Had Small Brushes With Law
Minor brushes with the law—traffic tickets mostly—rolled off his back. Nobody asked for a birth certificate. His Social Security card, in the name of Harry E. Bennett, was one of the first issued. When he was asked about military service, he replied that he never had been in the service.

"One thing that bothered me," he said, "was guys . . . neighbor or somebody I worked with . . . talking about some time they had read in the paper. They would say, 'What do you think about that?' or 'Do you think they'll catch him?'"

Had Three Houses
"I always wanted to ask them, 'What makes you think I'd know?'" "Those kind of question were rapping right at my front door."

On the outside Hunkins built three houses. The first he sold to get a bigger one. The second went to his wife when she divorced him. The third was sold because his wife didn't like it.

The future, which 30 years ago looked like alternate periods of violence and the drabness of prison for Roy Hunkins, is doubtful. He wants to return to Kalamazoo, get a job barbering, and build himself another house.

"Coming home at night and eating a good meal and sitting down in front of the television, maybe with a beer or two—that's hard to beat."

COMPILES ALL SEGREGATION ISSUES OF SOUTH

By GAVIN SCOTT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The unfolding drama of the emotion-packed school desegregation story is being quickly compiled here in a tree-shaded house built in an era when integration was just a dictionary word.

Into this grey Victorian brick building flow daily reports on racial developments affecting over 9,000 school districts in 17 Southern and border states and the District of Columbia.

From this voluminous file, a fact-finding agency called the Southern Education Reporting Service is trying to tell the historic desegregation story straight down the middle.

Reporting Straight Story
"We're not advocating integration or segregation," says Canadian-born Don Shoemaker, the service's pipe-smoking executive director. "We just report the story as objectively as we can."

SERS was formed by a group of leading Southern newspaper editors and educators on July 15, 1954, just two months after the Supreme Court's decision striking down segregated public schools.

Its stated purpose was "to tell the story, factually and objectively, of what happens in education" in the wake of the sweeping opinion. Financial aid came in grants from the Ford Foundation's Fund for the advancement of education.

A headquarters staff gathers and digests information and passes it to the public primarily through "Southern School News," a 16-page monthly tabloid.

At first the non-profit organization was viewed with suspicion from both sides of the explosive issue. Now $2-a-year subscriptions to the News have been purchased by over 11,000 individuals or organizations—from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the pro-segregation White Citizens Councils.

The service has become accepted as the most complete source on the school segregation-integration issue in the nation.

Articles from some 60 newspapers are clipped daily and filed away along with over 1,000 magazine stories, copies of legislative acts, speeches and court decisions relating to the subject.

Cross-indexed, this "library" forms a ready reference on various aspects of the issue and should provide a valuable source for future historians.

19 Paid Correspondents
Another major source of information is SERS' field staff of 19 paid correspondents. Each holds down a regular news job in his home state and does a comprehensive monthly roundup of desegregation developments in his area.

These state-by-state roundups are published in the "News."

"All shades of opinion are represented by these reporters," says Shoemaker, former editor of the Asheville (N. C.) Citizen. "All were chosen for their ability to report factually and objectively on one of the great stories of our time."

Shoemaker became executive director of this unique operation two years ago, succeeding C. A. (Pete) McKnight, now editor of the Charlotte Observer. Frank Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, is the present chairman of the SERS board, having been elected in March to succeed Virgilus Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch and the board's first chairman.

There are now 30 gold producing mines in Ontario, Canada, and their production of gold and silver is about 86 million dollars a year.

HARRISBURG — Highway Secretary Lewis M. Stevens has outlined a road construction program of more than $5 million dollars in central Pennsylvania as part of Gov. Leader's job development program.

Of the 25 million dollars an estimated 2 millions involving five projects originally scheduled for construction in 1959 have been advanced to this year.

Birthingstone of August is sardonys.

SIX ONE DOLLAR BILLS GROW INTO WOMAN'S SHRINE

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Six women stood in the doorway of a modest brick dwelling here one day. Each drew a dollar from her purse. They had suddenly decided to buy the place as a shrine to one of the nation's most militant women suffragists, Susan B. Anthony.

The women were members of the Rochester Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. George Howard, president, collected the dollar.

Fourteen months later, Mrs. Howard had enough voluntary contributions to purchase the house, in which Miss Anthony had lived for 40 years.

Restored To Anthony's Time
Now the house has been restored in keeping with the times of Miss Anthony. Furniture, books, pictures and other articles have been re-assembled in the old brick house on Madison Avenue.

The two-and-a-half-story dwelling was bought by Mrs. Lucy Read Anthony after the death of her husband, Daniel. There she moved in 1886 with her two daughters, Mary and Susan. After the mother's death in 1880 Mary became the owner. And every year when she paid her taxes, Mary—also a crusader—wrote on her bill, "Paid under protest." She believed women shouldn't be taxed without representation.

Original Desk Bequeathed
Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, one of Susan's assistants and her successor as president of the National American Woman Suffrage Assn., sent to the house her collection of framed photographs of noted women who believed in rights for women.

By bequest, there came back the mahogany desk on which Miss Anthony drafted strategic plans for the 19th Amendment—giving women the right to vote—a privilege not won until 1920, 14 years after Miss Anthony's death.

Precious letters, pictures and other items are kept in a fireproof cabinet

SPRING SATIN—Slim white satin suit for the spring and summer is shown by Paris designer Jose Badia. The fitted jacket ignores the chemise or relaxed silhouette. Badia's collection is based on the "Napoleon III" line.

PREGNANT IDEA

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Gerald Thomason was worried when highway crews began tearing up the pavement and blocking off streets in front of her home. She consulted with highway engineer Ed Kidd and asked if he could leave passage for emergencies. It was arranged, and without any trouble getting to the hospital, Mrs. Thomason gave birth to a baby.
